Sessions, Babbitt Honored By Pulitzer Committee

Two Princeton residents — a teacher and his former pupil — were honored this week by the Pulitzer Prize Committee.

The Pulitzer Prize for musical composition was awarded to Roger Sessions for his "Concerto for Orchestra" and a special citation was given to Milton Babbitt for "his life's work as a distinguished and seminal American composer."

Mr. Sessions, who lives at 63 Stanworth Lane, was professor of music at Princeton University from 1935 to 1965. Mr. Babbitt, whose home is at 222 Western Way and who also has a residence in New York, is the William Shubael Conant professor of music at Princeton, where he has taught since 1963. Both men now teach at the Juilliard School in New York.

"I am 85 years old and I've had a lot of things happen to me," Mr. Sessions said. "An award like this is not something you've done by yourself. It's an expression of approval, but it doesn't become an end in itself — that's not why you write the work. But it's very nice."

Mr. Sessions has won a Pulitzer before. In 1974, he, like Mr. Babbitt this year, received a special citation as a "distinguished American composer."

Mr. Babbitt is known to the public chiefly for his electronic music. Since 1959, he has been head of the Electronic Music Center at Columbia University and Princeton University in New York. Among historians

Rockets' Loud Blare May Cancel Plans To Repeat Fireworks in Quarry Park

"They were beautiful! Absolutely mind-boggling!" exclaimed Borough Council member Robert McChesney.

And then he raised a question of considerable psychological import for the Borough of Princeton:

"Maybe Princeton isn't capable of absorbing such excitement."

Mr. McChesney was talking, on this cloudy April evening, about fireworks. Last Fourth of July's fireworks in Quarry Park.

The question: will 1982 have fireworks, or will they be allowed to fizzle? David Guerzini, who provided the 1981 fireworks out of his own pocket, was sitting in on Council's work session Monday night, listening quietly.

Neighbors have been signing a petition against the fireworks. They — fireworks, not neighbors — are noisy. Last Fourth, a rocket almost hit a garage, reported Mr. McChesney's colleague, Nelson van den Blink.

"The noise was really SOMETHING," Mrs. van den Blink said with feeling. She lives only a couple of blocks away.

And then, there are the trees. The Borough Shade Tree Commission is worried about fragile young trees in Quarry Park. Their caliper is only three-quarters of an inch to one inch. They are part of the Borough's Quarry Park development project and could not be planted last year because of the drought. They could be damaged, not by noise, but by the trample of feet.

But then — if not Quarry Park, where?

Or is the Borough incapable of absorbing the excitement?

University Is Preparing Royal Welcome For Queen Beatrix Due Here Next Week

Princeton University is preparing a royal welcome for a brief visit by Her Majesty Beatrix, Queen of the Netherlands, and her consort, His Royal Highness Prince Claus on Thursday, April 22.

The Queen is making Princeton one of her stops in a five-day visit that will begin with a state visit to Washington Monday, April 19, and end in New York City Friday, April 23.

Travelling from Philadelphia to New York City on April 22, Queen Beatrix is expected to arrive in Princeton around 3 p.m., stopping first at Palmer House, the University-owned residence at the corner of Nassau Street and Bayard Lane, to "freshen up." The royal party, arriving in 11 limousines (seven for the Dutch delegation and four for security) will proceed to Maclean House on the University campus.

President and Mrs. Bowen will greet Queen Beatrix and Prince Claus in the living room of Palmer House before continuing by limousine to the campus at 3:30. The Queen will alight from her limousine at the rear of Stanhope Hall and walk to the front of Nassau Hall, where she will be greeted by Governor and Mrs. Thomas Kean in a public welcoming ceremony.

Following the ceremony, the royal party and some 50 selected University and community representatives will disappear inside Nassau Hall for an exchange of remarks and gifts between Her Majesty and Princeton University in the Faculty Room.

At 4, the Queen will make her way to the courtyard between McCosh Hall and the Chapel where, at her request, she will address the students. This public ceremony will be followed by a brief tour of the Princeton University Chapel and a walk to the Princeton University Art Museum in McCormick Hall where President and Mrs. Bowen will be the hosts for a reception for 160 invited guests.

The visit will conclude at 6:15 p.m. when the Queen departs for New York.

The Queen's visit to the United States is a significant one in the history of both countries. It marks 200 years of unbroken diplomatic relations between the United States and the Netherlands.

In April, 1782, the States General of the Netherlands United Provinces admitted John Adams as Minister Plenipotentiary of the American Republic. In 1783, the American

Borough Considering Law For Mandatory Recycling

If you live in the Borough, you may find yourself with a new ordinance requiring you to separate glass, newspapers and garbage.

"I suspect we'll take a lot of flak on that one," Mayor Robert W. Cawley said gloomily, as Council considered the matter at Monday's work session.

With such an ordinance, the Borough would qualify for a rebate from the state, and that's tempting. New Jersey now has a re-cycling fund. All the landfills — dumps — in the state collect a fee which goes into a state pool. Money in the pool is used to encourage re-cycling; in fact, the Borough might even get a $5,000 grant from the state to plan its re-cycling.

As it stands now, the Princeton community will pay $420 in re-cycling tax for its own landfill, operated by the Sewer Operating Committee, which consists of Borough, Township and University.

Not much, for a whole year. But all the garbage that goes into the transfer station gets carted off to somebody else's landfill, and that will cost $4,200 in 1982. The Borough gets nothing back because it does not do re-cycling.

With a mandatory re-cycling program, in which householders would be required to put glass and newspapers in separate containers from garbage, the Borough could receive the rebate, which is based on a complex formula.

There is a double advantage: if glass and newspapers are removed for re-cycling, there is less garbage to go through the transfer station, which means a dollar saving.

The Borough must now ponder how many tons it might be able to re-cycle, how much could be saved in disposal costs, the value of the re-cycled material and the amount of the state refund. Once before, about five years ago, the Borough had a re-cycling program but it collapsed because the value of the re-cycled material didn't pay for the cost of collecting it.

Incidentally, only glass and newspapers are under consideration. Borough Engineer George Qlexa told Council that cans are hard to get rid of — nobody wants to buy them.

RENT VITAL ISSUE

As Ordinance Expires.

Rent promises to be a vital issue in the Borough this spring. The present rent registration ordinance expires June 30, Council has scheduled a special public meeting for next Wednesday to hear what people think about rent, and Pierina Thayer, tenant advocate and member of the Rent Registration Board, plans to run for Borough Council on the Democratic ticket.

The meeting will be held in Borough Hall at 8 p.m. next Wednesday. Council member Robert McChesney proposed the meeting so that Council can hear what tenants and landlords think before any ordinance is drafted. Mayor

Robert W. Cawley warned that it might be the same old words all over again, but the meeting was scheduled anyway.

Mrs. Thayer, a member of the Rent Registration Board is "absolutely!" in favor of a stronger rent ordinance. She is the founder of the new Princeton Tenants Association and expects the membership to be on hand Wednesday.

As a member of the board, she says she has seen rents "skyrocket" since the former rent-leveling ordinance expired, and the new Rent Registration ordinance took its place. Increases as high as 75 percent have occurred, she says.

She believes that, in the year the Borough has been without rent control, landlords have achieved market rents that give them a fair return.

"From now on," she says, "any agreement on a percentage of rent increase, would be equitable on both sides."

NUCLEAR FREEZE

Council to Consider. Borough Council was scheduled to vote this Tuesday on a nuclear freeze resolution, introduced by Council member Nelson van den Blink. Late Tuesday, Mrs. van den Blink said she thought Council's six members might be equally divided on the issue.

Those who might vote "no," she suggested, question whether the resolution is an appropriate one for a local governing body to consider.

In her view, Mrs. van den Blink said, it is a civil defense question concerned with "the health, safety and welfare of the community, matters Council is always concerned with."

The resolution supports an immediate, mutual, verifiable freeze of nuclear weapons on the part of the United States and the Soviet Union, and urges the New Jersey legislature to pass Assembly bill 799 and Senate bill 1080, which would guarantee a place on the November ballot for a public referendum.

YOU, TOO, CAN DANCE

(Tax-free). Tax-deductible dancing? What is this!

It's the Arts Council's Dance-in (or Dancin', if you prefer) to be held Saturday, April 24 from 9:30 to noon in the Arts Council's new home, the Paul Robeson Community Center at 102 Witherspoon.

You pay $10 a person, or $15 for the family, and you can spend the whole morning just dancin', dancin', dancin'. If you have the stamina. It's a tax deductible contribution to the Arts Council, so you have nothing to lose but your breath and some fat.

Esther Seligmann and Sandy Goettinger will lead. Starting with their direction of the Dance Coop in 1973, they've been involved in dance in Princeton for many years. They are donating their expertise and time to the benefit, by the way.

First, there will be a warm-up. Then you begin. You, the dancers, will improvise along with the musicians and at the end, everybody will choreograph together in one big improvisation, just like good jazz. Final word on the music will be announced next week.

The two directors advise you to wear comfortable clothing. It doesn't have to be a dance outfit. Mom, Pop and the kids are all welcome, and reservations are not essential.

building toward Washington Street and Firestone Library when two black males ran up behind her and pushed her to the sidewalk.

Nothing was said and no attempt was made to take anything from the victim or assault her, Capt. Bellow reported. As she fell to the ground, the victim shouted and her two assailants ran off.

She was later treated at the university infirmary for abrasions of the nose, left knee and wrist and released. Police were notified of the assault the next morning at 9:59 by the infirmary.

The only description police have of the two suspects is that they are thin and estimated to be 16 to 17 years old.

I Demand To Be Arrested
In a twist of the man-bites-dog genre, a Pennsylvania resident strode in the Borough police headquarters at 2:45 Friday morning and demanded to be arrested.

Clyde M. Christian, 23, of Clarks Green, went up to the desk officer Ralph Terracciano, showed him a small quantity of marijuana in his hand and demanded to be placed under arrest.

The startled officer summoned Ptl. Anthony Federico and Ptl. Chris Boutote who complied with his request. They issued him a complaint summons charging Christian with possession of less than 25 grams of marijuana. Later released, he faces an April 21 hearing in Borough court.

Charged with Two Tapes.
Two weeks ago, a 25-year old Princeton resident, Hermon Hearn of 6 Stanworth Lane, was charged with raping a 20-year old Trenton woman in Central Park on Eggerts Crossing Road in Lawrence Township.

Hearn, who told police he is an unemployed minister, is alleged to have approached the victim April 1 as she sat on her East State Street porch. According to police, the two began to talk about basketball and agreed to play a game.

After the game, during which the victim rejected several advances by Hearn, he is alleged to have driven her to the park where he raped her in the back seat of his car. At one point, after convincing Hearn to lower the car window, complaining she needed air, the victim managed to escape by diving through the window.

Hearn chased after her. When he caught up to her, he dragged her back to the car and raped her, police said.

He was later arrested at the home of the victim, who called police while he was visiting there. Bail was set at $5,000.

Less than a month earlier, Hearn had allegedly raped a 17-year old Trenton High School student at the same park. He had picked up the student in his car on her way home from school, police said. According to the victim, Hearn played a tape recording of one of his sermons while he was raping her.

He was later apprehended by Lawrence Township police as he tried to drive away from the victim's home. The girl had called police when Hearn returned later to her home.

TENANTS PROTEST
Palmer Square Fees. Residential and retail tenants of Palmer Square have been busy this week signing a petition of protest to their landlord, Collins Development's Yankee Management, against increases in parking lot fees. The petition was started by Suzanne Corlette, who rents an apartment in the Square.

She presents figures showing that there has been an increase of 56 percent in parking rentals since Collins took over, and 192.5 percent increase in the nine years since 1973.

The petition points out that tenants who park their cars in the Square's lot, are parking in the open, exposed to weather and vandalism. The corporation, she charges, has never assumed any responsibility for damage or vandalism to cars parked there.

In 1973, she says, rental for parking space was $40 for three months. Increases in 1976 and 1977 brought it up to $55. Then, in July, 1978, the period was reduced to two months, and the rental set at $40.

It has remained at a two-month interval, the petition says, with an increase to $45 in 1979; to $50 in 1980 and to $60 in 1981. The newest increase, also for a two-month period, is to $78.

At Monday night's EDRC meeting, members found the original five-story structure, 61 feet high, reduced to four stories and 47 feet high. The building is proposed by Laidlaw, Adam and Peck, Inc., the brokerage firm, for the space left vacant by a fire two years ago.

The building will be devoted entirely to office use, except for the basement which will be storage. The EDRC suggested that a backward slant of the top story, shown on architect William Edwards' plans, be carried through in final construction.

Laidlaw will now go to the Planning Board's May 4 meeting. The EDRC's memo to that body will advise that Laidlaw needs, not only a floor-area-ratio variance — the building is allowed an FAR of 1.5 and has 4 — but also a parking variance for 28 spaces. Under the Borough's ordinance, a building in the Central Business District that occupies the entire lot, as this one does, can only be 1.5 stories high. This building is four stories high.

DRIVER HITS WIRE

On Bunn Drive. A San Francisco resident, Richard T. Daniels, 23, was issued a summons for careless driving last week, following a single-car mishap on Bunn Drive.

Mr. Daniels told Ptl. Mario Musso that he had braked when he saw a wet spot on the roadway while rounding a curve. His car crossed the roadway and struck a utility pole guide wire.

His car had to be towed from the scene. Mr. Daniels was treated at Princeton Medical Center for minor leg and hip injuries.

There were two accidents in the Township last Wednesday — victims of the aftermath of Tuesday's snow storm.

While driving on Mt. Lucas Road, Lisa H. VanCleeve, 17, of Canal Road, Griggstown, ran into a snow drift. Her small foreign car was forced off the road and it struck a pole. Miss VanCleeve told Ptl. John Seely Jr. that she didn't want to brake, fearing her car would slide, so she attempted to drive through the drift.

She was treated at the Medical Center for contusions and abrasions of the leg. A passenger, 15-year-old Tracy Craig, 173 Witherspoon Street, sustained contusions and abrasions of the head.

Shortly after 9 p.m., a car skidding sideways on Route 206 near Hillside collided with another car coming in the opposite direction.

Twenty-three year old Mary L. McBride of Erial told police that after her car had suddenly started to skid into the opposite lane it collided with another car. Upon impact, the cars spun together and collided again in their rear sections, causing extensive damage. The latter was operated by Margaret K. Smagorinsky, 66, 21 Duffield Place. Sgt. Michael Kopliner noted in his report that the surface of the roadway was extremely hazardous due to drifting snow.

Mrs. Smagorinsky complained of minor leg injuries; a passenger in the McBride car, Calvin D. Harris, 21, 94 Gallup Road, complained of pain to his leg and hip.

WOMAN CHARGED

By Borough Police. A 26-year-old Borough resident has been charged with disorderly conduct and harrasment by police and as a result faces an April 21 hearing in court.

Police gave this account. Holly Tooker, 150 Witherspoon Street, who had allegedly been drinking, had locked herself out of her apartment shortly after 1 Monday morning. In punching out a window to get inside, she cut her arm and face and had become abusive to those inside, creating a disturbance.

Ptl. Chris Boutote, Ptl. Anthony Federico and Sgt. William Fitch responded to a 1:30 call, requesting assistance. They transported Ms. Tooker to Princeton Medical Center.

There, she allegedly became abusive to the doctors and nurses and refused to be treated. She was directing foul language toward everyone, Capt. John Bellow reported.

When Sgt. Fitch tried to calm her down, she spit in his face. Ms. Tooker was arrested, taken to headquarters, issued a complaint summons and released at 7 in the morning, pending her appearance in court.

FRONT WHEELS STOLEN
From Parked Car. Two front "mag" wheels and tires were stolen last week from the car of a Princeton Community Village resident while it was parked in a Greenhrier Row lot.

Police report that the victim had parked and locked his car at 10:30 Sunday morning. When he returned at noon Monday, he discovered the front tires missing and the car resting on its wheel drums.

In another Township theft, a Randall Road resident reported that 11 Jml Hendrix records worth $110 and a $120 Walkman radio were missing from his home. The victim told police that the theft occurred sometime between March 28 and Friday morning when he discovered the items missing.

A Princeton University student reported on Friday the theft of her $329 black wool coat from a coat room in the Elm Club on Prospect Avenue. She also lost a cashmere scarf and pair of black leather gloves for a total loss of $473. Borough police were not notified until five days after the incident.

A Princeton Theological Seminary student left her book bag unattended for 45 minutes Friday while she was eating lunch at the student center. The oversight cost her $61-$35 in cash and $26 in clothing and miscellaneous items taken from the bag.

A graduate student told police Friday that a lock had been cut from his Dillon Gym locker between 11:45 and 12:15 p.m. Stolen were a watch valued at $20 and his brown leather wallet containing $20 cash and credit cards.

A Skillman resident, an employee of the Princeton Public Library, left her purse unattended on top of her desk for a four-hour period last week. Her total loss, including a wallet containing $20, was $40. The wallet was found the next day in a garbage can at the rear of the library intact except for the money.

Fire Chief Is Hero
When Fire Chief Raymond Wadsworth went off to Italy on the Princeton Regional Schools' spring vacation junket, he apparently packed in his suitcase the sense of civic responsibility that made him Princeton's fire-chief.

Easter Saturday, in the milling crowds of the Vatican, Chief Wadsworth suddenly spotted something: a young boy, only 14 or 16 years old, grabbing an old woman's purse. Quickly, the chief gave chase. He caught the boy, pinned him against the wall, took back the purse and held the youth until Vatican guards took over. Then he returned the handbag to its owner.

Chief Wadsworth doesn't speak Italian. The elderly owner of the purse doesn't speak English. Sometimes language is no barrier.

checks valued at approximately $800, according to police, was stolen last week from the knapsack of a university student. It had been left in a study carrel in the basement of the Woodrow Wilson school. The checks were on a Princeton bank.

TWO TVS ARE STOLEN
From Masonic Lodge. Two television sets were stolen last week from the Aaron Masonic Lodge on Maclean Street.

Taken from the first-floor bar area was a 25-inch color set valued at $500, while a $75 black and white set was removed from a second-floor room. Entry was gained through an unlocked second-floor window off the fire escape. Police believe the theft took place at 2:25 Friday morning.

Captain John J. Bellow reported that a clock, plugged into the same outlet as the color TV, has stopped at that hour. Ptl. Randy Sutton investigated.

LOTTERY TICKETS TAKEN
Juvenile, 11, Admits Theft. An 11-year old Borough juvenile admitted at police headquarters last week that he took 36 weekly lottery tickets valued at $36 from a parked car.

The victim had told police that when he returned to his car parked in the Tulane West lot at 6 Thursday evening, he noticed a youth on the front seat of the car. "What are you doing?" he asked. "I'm sleeping," replied the youth, who then ran off with the owner in pursuit.

He saw the suspect run into a home on Shirley Court. Later, Sgt. Thomas Procaccino and Ptl. David Alston, accompanied by the victim, spoke to the suspect's older brother, who told police his younger brother was not at home.

At 9:30 that evening, the suspect appeared with this mother at police headquarters. After an interview with Sgt. Procaccino and Det. James Agins, he admitted, police said, taking the tickets and tossing them away during his flight home. Police said they were later recovered and returned to the owner.

The police investigation revealed that the object was possible a BB shot.

GUIDE AVAILABLE

To Children's Museum Exhibit. The Children's Museum of the Historical Society has received a $300 grant from the Mercer County Cultural and Heritage Commission and the New Jersey State Council on the Arts.

The grant was awarded to Connie Escher, Children's Museum director, to design and produce two children's guides to museum exhibits.

Mrs. Escher has already produced the first guide, which is on the current "general store" exhibit. Printed in brown ink on sturdy cream color stock, the eight page guide is at once a momento of the visit and a back-at-home or back-in-the-classroom resource for reinforcing the learning experience.

It is illustrated with period photographs and drawings and contains a matching exercise, lists of some of the items to be found in a general store than can become the basis of vocabulary, math, spelling exercises, or even geography. There is also space where the child can draw the folk art toy or other old plaything he or she liked best in the exhibit.

The grant and the children's guide come at a time when the programs at the Children's Museum have been stepped up. Fifteen school groups and many scout troops have already made visits to the general store this year, and five to 10 more are planned. Mrs. Escher is assisted in giving tours, by a committee of four former school teachers, Peg Lutz, Jane Alexander, Anne Lanahan and Marilyn Blinder.

Mrs. Escher also goes to the classroom to give some background before the class visit, tailoring her presentation to the age group and to

How Deep the Snow?

Seven inches on top of a cold car, 5.5 on a warmer driveway.

That's what Science Associates' David Ludlum measured at the end of last Tuesday's snowstorm. Hard to measure because of the high and gusty winds — it was 9 inches in some places.

Constant readers will remember Mr. Ludlum's report of last week that 7.5 inches fell April 1, 1924. Except for the 16 inches of 1915, that's the top, so Princeton's April 6, 1982, storm was a respectable one. It was about an inch of liquid precipitation, by the way.

A countryman at heart, Mr. Ludlum says happily that April storms are often called "God's manure" because the snow rests on the grass and makes it grow.

"Spring is on its way," he reported, peering over the northern border. "I've checked the Canadian temperatures and they look pretty good."

what the class has been studying. In addition, she has organized two rotating exhibits that are making the rounds of the elementary schools.

One is a miniature general school, and the other recreates the school room of 200 years ago. These exhibits have served a secondary purpose of quickening interest in the Children's Museum at the Historical Society.

Mrs. Escher feels that a key feature of the success of the Children's Museum is the "hands-on" nature of the exhibits. Children are encouraged to touch, try-on, feel and examine. This fall will mark the sixth year of the Museum, and the exhibit for which she will produce the second children's guide will be a turn-of-the-century bedroom.

Class visits are usually scheduled in mornings, and the Museum is open 12-4 weekday afternoons for those who just want to drop in. There is lots to see, and a brand new children's guide to take home.

Subject: Parking Garage

To the Voters of Princeton Borough

For more than fifteen years, Mayors, Councils, Planning Boards and Citizens Committees, through countless studies, have shown their concern for the vitality of the Central Business District.

There now exists a publicly accepted plan to move forward.

Basic to the Plan of economic development is the addition of tax ratable office and commercial buildings. Added buildings however, require additional parking.

Mayor and Council are now proposing to make the first move toward the Borough's investment in the future by building such a parking garage.

No one with long term awareness of the downtown parking situation can deny that there is a need for added spaces. That these added spaces will cost money is an undeniable fact.

The choice for the Borough Taxpayer is between an initial investment NOW to produce future revenue from Downtown ratables or a STATUS QUO situation wherein annual municipal cost increases will result in even higher taxes.

It is interesting to note that Commercial property produces more than 60% of the tax revenue of the Borough at the present time, so that the burden of taxes is more than shared directly by owners of commercial property or indirectly by those who pay rents to owners of commercial property.

Taking all of the above into consideration and coming up with the conclusion that an investment now anticipates a financial benefit to all taxpayers but particularly residential, the Executive Committee of the Princeton Borough Merchants Association at their meeting on April 7th passed a resolution urging the voters of Princeton Borough, in the interest of the future of the Borough to cast their vote in favor of the garage.

Sincerely,
Princeton Borough Merchants Association

51st BOOK SALE SET

By Bryn Mawr Club. Book-lovers, collectors and readers of all ages and persuasions will want to mark their calendars for Tuesday, April 20, through Saturday, April 24, for the 51st annual Bryn Mawr Book Sale. The sale will be held in the Borough Hall

Gymnasium, behind the police station.

Tuesday from 3-5:30 has been designated as the annual "Children's Hour," a special time reserved for children only to browse for new and old favorites. For older and taller readers, the sale officially opens on Wednesday, April 21, from noon to 9, and will continue on Thursday and Friday from 9 to 9 and Saturday from 9 to noon. Books are half-price on Friday and $2 a carton on Saturday.

Ruta Smithson of Lawrenceville, president of the Bryn Mawr Club of Princeton, says that more than 75,000 books will be available from which to select bargains in every field of literature. Volunteers who have been gathering books at the warehouse, which is open year round for donations on Wednesday and Saturday mornings at 32 Vandeventer Avenue, report that this year's collections are strong in every field, including religion, philosophy and education.

In addition, Kingston artist Peter Cook has donated many books from his mother's estate. The collection is particularly strong in fine arts, music and foreign language books — especially in French. Mr. Cook's grandfather was ambassador to France during the civil war.

As usual, children's literature and general fiction are deeply stocked, as are records, pamphlets and magazines. Sale proceeds under-write scholarships for area students to attend Bryn Mawr College.

Serious book collectors are expected to line up at the gym after 9 on Wednesday, April 21, to obtain a number to secure their place in line, and then return at noon, when the doors officially open. A policeman will preside over the reading of priority entry numbers.

Focus of Blawenburg Event. Antiques, architecture, and a community's pride in its past will be on display Saturday, May 8 when the Van Harlingen Historical Society sponsors a "Salute to Blawenburg."

Featuring an antiques show and tour of historic structures, the "Salute" is timed to coincide with the 150th anniversary of the Blawenburg Reformed Church whose founding helped to turn Blawenburg from a farming crossroads to a true community. With a population of only about 250 today, Blawenburg presents a compact medley of ar-

ABOUT

FERTILIZATION — THE VITAMIN SUPPLEMENT
OF TREES

with Sam De Turo
Woodwinds Associates

Did you know your landscaping represents about 10 percent of your total property value? HEALTHY trees and shrubs are a beautiful reflection of this value.

Nature's renewal cycle helps trees and shrubs survive in the forest naturally. Leaves fall, then decompose, adding humus and food elements to the soil where roots take nourishment.

Then, along comes civilization. Man cuts roots for buildings, walks and driveways and compacts the soil in which the remaining roots must survive. He also installs lawns which compete for food. And then, he rakes off the leaves.

Research and experience consistently show the dramatic benefits for proper tree and shrub feeding: resistance to insect and disease attack, greater tolerance to drought, increased vigor, denser, more luxuriant foliage, and of course, greater value to the property.

How does fertilization work? The basic technique for fertilizing trees and shrubs was originally the dry feeding approach. Holes were made in the soil and a dry fertilizer was put into the holes. This method did have its drawbacks and modern technology came along with liquid fertilization. The definite advantages in tree feeding by the liquid method are many. The tree or shrub response is faster. The nutrients in solution are all ready for the trees' feeder roots to absorb. Liquid feeding provides uniform distribution of nutrients to the roots. Also, a tree can be fertilized more often without danger of burning the feeder roots or upsetting the soil's chemical balance. It also features the added advantage of giving the tree or shrub an extra watering when they are fed.

It's time to fertilize your garden now! Give WOODWINDS a call for an appointment to evaluate and discuss Spring feeding now! Call us at 924-3500.

Open for the walking house tour from 10 to 4 will be the Church and 10 private residences, including a large number of early and late Victorian houses, such as the old Parsonage. An 18th-century carriage house, a converted barn, and the old Blawenburg Tavern are also on the tour, as well as a Seneca Rockwell pre-cut house and a glass-and-cedar contemporary. All stops on the tour are within walking distance of one another, and free parking will be available.

The Antiques Show will feature wares ranging from primitive country items to high Victorian presented by nearly 20 dealers from New Jersey and Pennsylvania selected for the quality of their stock. Antiques available for sale will include furniture, flasks, clocks, miniatures, Staffordshire china, patterns and cut glass, prints and paintings, and a wide range of other items, with the emphasis on American.

The Antiques Show will be open from 10 to 6 in the Church's Christian Education Center. Lunch will be available, plus home-baked goods and coffee throughout the day.

Ticket proceeds will assist the Van Hartsloger Historical Society, a non-profit educational organization in its restoration of the nearby Gulick House, built around 1750. Gulick House is one of the few stone structures in what was originally the "Eastern Province" of New Jersey.

A ticket for admission to both House Tour and Antiques Show is $5. Tickets for the Antiques Show may be purchased separately for $2.50, or $2 if bought in advance. Show tickets for senior citizens are also $2.

Both a general admission and separate show ticket include a chance to win one of several antiques that will be given as door prizes.

The public is also invited to a preview party on Friday evening, May 7, for the benefit of the Historical Society. The affair will provide an opportunity to preview the Antiques Show while enjoying a buffet of substantial hors d'oeuvres and punch prepared according to a traditional recipe. Tickets for the preview are $5.

Tickets may be reserved by phoning 466-2198. Volunteers who wish to help with the "Salute" may call Miriam Thiel (921-8783) for the House Tour or George Masselos (874-5673) for the Antiques Show. DEMOCRATS ENDORSE

As Primary Nears. The two Democratic candidates for Congress, Barbara Boggs Sigmund and Adam Levin, received endorsements this week in their race to represent the new seventh district.

Mrs. Sigmund was endorsed by acclamation Monday night by the membership of the Princeton Community Democratic Organization.

Earlier, she had been endorsed by Mayor Tom Dunn of Elizabeth, and former New Jersey State Senator and U.S. Ambassador to New Zealand Anne Martindell.

Mr. Levin has received the endorsement of Princeton resident and former New Jersey attorney general John Degnan.

Also at Monday night's PCDO membership meeting, former Township Committee member Kate Litvack received the group's endorsement as candidate for county Freeholder.

The exhibition will open on Thursday, May 6, with a special evening reception for exhibitors, to be held from 7 to 8:30. The deadline for entries is Saturday, May 1.

There is no entry fee for the contest, which is open to all amateur photographers. There are two categories: black and white, and color, and photographers may enter two pictures (either two in one category, or one in each.) Prizes, which are in photo equipment or supplies of the winner's choice, are: first prize, $50 for color and $50 for black and white; second prize, $25 for color and $25 for black and white; and third prize, $15 in each category.

Entrants need not do their own developing—it may be done by a commercial lab, or by another photographer.

Additional information is on the entry blanks, which may be picked up in the photography department of the Princeton University Store at 36 University Place.

WHY?

PCH Housing for the Elderly should not be built on the Library Parking Lot:

1. Necessitates building a 5½ story, 7-ramp garage on Spring Street to provide for lost parking spaces.
2. Because of the Library location and consequent need for the garage, it becomes outrageously expensive — a total investment of over $12,000,000!
3. The garage construction itself will cost the taxpayers over $6,250,000 (12% bonds - 20 years).
4. Local taxes will increase 16% on top of the increase of 13% already scheduled to begin in August — total up 29% — at least! In addition to our '81 increases.
5. Renters — what do you think will happen to your rent?
6. There are other Sites available including vacant land near the Shopping Center at far less cost. Total investment there — probably less than $4,000,000 as compared with $12,000,000 at Library Parking Lot — a savings of $8,000,000 — Worth thinking about?
7. HUD's "Voucher" System recommended by the President's Commission on Housing, which is scheduled to go into effect in October of this year will enable low-income elderly to reside in housing of their own choosing with subsidies.

VOTE NO - MAY 4TH

It's the only chance you'll ever have.
If the "tiny little $105,000" ordinance for a bond issue on the Design of the garage passes, the Mayor and his political associates plan to CIRCUMVENT THE VOTERS.

You won't get the chance to vote on the construction of the garage itself and its cost of $6,250,000.

Garage an 'Extravagance.'

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The news is that the Borough voters will on May 4 have a referendum on the new Borough ordinance to spend over a hundred thousand dollars for planning a garage on South Tulane and Spring Streets.

Last October when the result of the first referendum was in doubt, a graduate student living on Dickinson Street (his initials were J.B.A.) wrote your paper to say that any addition to the rental housing of the Borough should be supported by persons like himself, and further that, if the matter came up again, he proposed to mount a campaign among his fellow graduates.

His reasoning seemed to be based on a filter down theory. He wanted the referendum to fail, because he thought Princeton Community Housing would indirectly slightly relieve a tight housing situation confronting his group.

I hope that this letter will be read by all renters who may have similar thoughts.

There can be no real assurance that the PCH housing for the elderly and handicapped will be occupied by persons now living in Princeton. The Borough has recently made a zoning change to allow single-family houses to be converted into 2-family units provided always that sufficient light and air will be maintained around the existing structure. This seems a move that is far more likely to ease the current housing crunch for grad students and other young people, than the theory advanced by lost October's letter writer.

The building of a garage merely to accommodate PCH will be very costly to those who pay taxes here. The total outlay by the Borough will be in the neighborhood of three million dollars, in the form of a 20-year bond issue, at an interest rate of 10 percent or more. It seems to those of us who face paying for this extravagance that the University students who are not permanent residents here might be gracious enough to refrain from voting on any future referendums such as the one coming before the electorate on May 4.

This third garage should not be built in any case until after the other two garages now being planned in the Borough have first been constructed and used.

ALAN W. CARRICK
260 Prospect Ave.

Opposes Garage.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The Spring Street garage issue has warmed up again in what this time should be a final and decisive showdown at the polls on May 4.

The decision, up to now, has been a relatively uncomplicated one — shall Borough Council create bonds to borrow $105,000 to design a 3-story, 7-level garage in preparation to create bonds to borrow $2,500,000 to build it?

Events since last fall have changed this radically. It is quite clear that Borough Council does not intend to risk a referendum on the $2,500,000 bond issue the building of the garage would entail. Negotiations with the Mercer County Improvement Authority have advanced to the stage that the Authority is now willing to accept the role of floating the bonds for the Borough (no saving of money) if the design referendum passes.

This means that a positive vote for a $105,000 bond issue on May 4 will result in a $6,250,000 debt (including interest) for the taxpayers, not merely a $105,000 one. A negative vote will of course defeat both.

What is sad and significant about this is that it is a conscious decision on the part of the mayor and (presumably) other members of the council who are agreeing to it.

I quote the mayor in a recent interview: "The cost to the taxpayer would be the same. It's a way of isolating the decision making from the process of referendum."

What the hell does that mean? The mayor has to go back to civics class again, apparently. A referendum IS decision making. You can't isolate it; all you can do is eliminate it. A referendum is an American and a democratic value. Is the mayor trying to "isolate" one of our civic values, while reserving "decision making" for himself?

I am disappointed in your editorial policy that you let a statement like that by our top elected official pass without comment.

But it's not too late. I ask that you call for an assurance from the mayor and council that they will not take steps to subvert democracy by taking on themselves decisions which rightfully belong to the people, by floating a bond issue without first seeking voter approval. I ask this of you as a prime defender of American liberties and values.

In any case, voters are hereby forewarned: a vote for a $105,000 bond issue on May 4 will result in a further decline in democratic processes and a $6,250,000 debt.

BUG-OF-THE-WEEK
By J. Drew Foster,
Entomologist
American Dog Tick

As nature-lovers and dog-owners have probably noticed, tick season is upon us. In addition to being a nuisance, the American dog tick is the principle vector of Rocky Mountain spotted fever in New Jersey. Tularemia (bacterium) and bovine anaplasmosis (protozoan) are also transmitted by ticks.

While walking in fields and woods, and while playing with pets that may carry ticks, check yourself frequently for these pests. Many disease organisms are not transmitted until the tick has fed for 2 hours, so early removal is important. Avoid hasty pulling of the attached tick, as this may cause the head and mouth parts to remain embedded in your skin. Grasp the tick firmly and pull with slow steady pressure until the tick is removed. Sometimes a drop of kerosene or mineral oil on the tick will cause it to back out. Always treat the wound with a good antiseptic after removal.

The tick nuisance can be reduced by eliminating dense woody underbrush and tall grass in infested areas. Foot paths through such areas should be mowed to 3 or 4 inches. In extreme circumstances, insecticide sprays can be applied to badly infested areas. Excellent results can be obtained, but the job should be carried out by properly trained pesticide applicators.

Protect your pets with tick collars, lotions, dips, or powders, in addition to frequent inspection of their fur and ears. You can protect yourself by tucking your pants cuffs into your socks while walking in infested areas. Avoid contact with tall grasses and brush. Commercial mosquito repellents ward off some ticks, but at best only about 75% will be repelled.

Give us a call for professional pesticide application.

As "Hidden Disease." The impact a nurse can have on the care of a patient with "hidden alcoholism" will be the subject of a seminar, "Alcoholism: The Hidden Enemy of Quality Nursing Care", to be given by The Medical Center on Wednesday, April 21 starting at 9 a.m.

The seminar is the first of its kind in this area to be run by registered nurses on the staff for the benefit of all nurses. The Center's R.N.'s have been planning the program in cooperation with patients suffering from alcohol abuse.

The workshops will show nurses how to identify patients who may have been admitted to the hospital for other illnesses, but who are "hidden" alcoholics. The coronary care unit, emergency department, obstetrics, psychiatry and the medical-surgical area will all be involved.

ECONOMIST DUE
For Lectures at University.
Ray Marshall, former Secretary of Labor in the Carter Administration and a well known labor economist, will deliver the 1982 Janeway Lectures at Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School on Wednesday and Thursday, April 21 and 22, at 8 p.m.

The two lectures, which are open to the public, are entitled "An Overview of Macroeconomic Policies: Conservative, Keynesian, Supply-Side and the Alternative" and "Selective Economic Policies: Wage-Price (Income), Industrial and Labor Market."

Mr. Marshall is currently a professor of economics and public affairs at the University of Texas at Austin, where he specializes economic and labor policies on the domestic and international levels. He also serves as president of the newly established National Policy Exchange, a Washington-based center for policy research and analysis in economics, social policy and government.

As Secretary of Labor for four years, 1977-81, Mr. Marshall emphasized employment training programs and labor relations. He played a major role in devising the Youth Employment and Demonstration Act of 1977 and in the reauthorization of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) in 1978. He was also instrumental in developing the 1978 Mine Safety and Health Act, as well as Title VII of the Civil Service Reform Act, which allowed collective bargaining for federal employees.

Vote ☒ X
for the garage on May 4

KEEP "PRINCETON, PRINCETON"

Vote ☒ X
for the garage on May 4

By Helping Our Long Term Residents To Stay in Princeton

1. WHY ARE BOROUGH VOTERS BEING BOTHERED WITH ANOTHER REFERENDUM?

Unfortunately, a voting machine broke down in District 6 during the general election on November 3rd so no final decision was reached on the garage referendum. Borough Council has passed a new bond ordinance for $105,000 for the design of its proposed parking garage. Opponents have again collected petitions to require the Borough government to call for another election at an added cost to the taxpayer of $7,000.

2. WHY IS IT IMPORTANT FOR PRINCETON BOROUGH TO VOTE FOR THE GARAGE?

The Spring Street garage is part of the Master Plan and is crucial to the construction of PCH of apartments for the elderly of low income. The garage will more than replace parking spaces lost when the housing is built. Its anticipated 300 spaces represent a net gain for the area of about 100 spaces. (The Collins garage will only fulfill the parking needs of the Palmer Square development.)

3. WHY CAN'T THE APARTMENTS BE BUILT SOMEWHERE ELSE?

The Zoning Board, the Planning Board, and Borough Council have all approved the Spring Street site as a superb location for bringing life to the center of the Borough by housing some elderly people within walking distance of churches, library, stores, recreation, and local and long distance buses. Additional stores within the building itself will help serve the residents and add commerce to the area. The HUD grant was awarded for this site in competition with many other New Jersey communities, because it is an ideal location.

4. DOES PRINCETON NEED THESE APARTMENTS?

About 200 people are either currently on waiting lists for publicly assisted housing or have expressed interest in these 88 apartments. As inflation forces up rental prices in Borough and Township, the need will increase. Without access to affordable housing, many of our increasingly elderly residents will be forced to move out of Princeton. The average waiting period for a one bedroom apartment at Princeton Community Village is now 5 years, illustrating the shortage of rental housing.

5. WHO WILL LIVE IN THE APARTMENTS?

Applicants must be 62 or older, except that the handicapped may be younger, and 10% of the units are designed for them. Current government guidelines require that at least 80% of the tenants must have incomes below $10,250 for a single person, $11,700 for a couple. The government permits the other 20% of the residents to have incomes up to $15,250 for a single person, $17,400 for a couple. These higher income levels are allowed at Princeton Community Village. Despite this the average income of the elderly at the Village is $6900 for a single person, $8200 for a couple. The new housing would mainly serve this income group.

6. WHAT WILL BE THE FINANCIAL GAIN TO THE BOROUGH FROM THE APARTMENTS?

When the housing is built, PCH will pay to the Borough a one-time lump sum payment of $300,000 for a 50 year lease of the land. PCH will also pay about $50,000 per year instead of taxes. In addition, the Borough will receive about $20,000 annually from the rental of commercial space in the ground floor of the PCH building facing Spring St. and $21,000 from the rental of commercial space in the garage area, as an offset to the loss of revenues from the parking meters on the housing site (currently $25,750 less expenses connected with operating the meters).

7. HOW MUCH WILL THE GARAGE COST THE TAXPAYER?

Borough Council continues to search for the most economical means of financing the garage to save the taxpayer money. If built through the sale of municipal bonds alone, the additional annual property tax burden for an average taxpayer (one who pays $2000 per year) would gradually increase to a peak of between $20 to $40 depending on the interest rates and inflation, and then gradually decrease. This figure includes both principal and interest on the bonds. After the breakeven point, this will become an income producing property.

8. HOW MUCH WILL IT COST TO PARK IN THE GARAGE?

The plan presented at the Borough Council meeting of March 18, 1982 figured the income per space from the garage as the same as that from the Park and Shop lot. There will be no need to worry about a ticket for overtime parking, and no need to tie up traffic while searching for a parking space.

9. IS THE BOROUGH SELLING ITS TAXPAYERS SHORT?

The Borough is not selling, but is leasing the land to PCH. After 50 years, the property will revert to the Borough. The $70,000 total annual income from PCH will increase with inflation, and will stay in the Borough. Because it will not be shared with the County or schools it will exceed any income the Borough might otherwise receive if the site were developed by a commercial developer under present zoning.

COMPUTERS... HERE TO STAY!

The computer is a fact of life. In just a few short years, the computer — and the microprocessor in particular — has revolutionized the world we must live and function in. As almost everyone becomes a potential computer user, understanding them is of ever-increasing importance.

THE FOURTH "R"

Computers are invading every facet of life: home, school, leisure and the work place. Those who become familiar with computers now will have a tremendous advantage in the future. After reading, writing and arithmetic, Computer Literacy will become the fourth basic skill. And with equal importance.

A knowledge of computers is no longer a luxury. It's a necessity!

Yet most of us think of the computer as something mysterious and difficult. Many people are afraid of computers. Others have not had the chance to learn about them. Now, there is a place to learn the fourth basic skill easily and efficiently.

THE PRINCETON MICROCOMPUTER LEARNING CENTER

Our unique learning programs tackle the issues with a comprehensive and easy to understand presentation. We clear up the mystery that surrounds the microprocessor by providing a firm, accurate base of information for the student to build on. You begin at a level appropriate to your experience, then progress through a logical sequence of learning to achieve the skill level you desire.

A COMPUTER FOR EVERY STUDENT

The learning center supplies a computer for each and every student. You receive "Hands On" experience with our unique teaching method. Each lesson is broken down into small, easy to learn segments, then reinforced with a demonstration and an explanation in the workbook.

LEARNING THE LINGO IS EASY

We attack the verbal communication problem—learning the language of computers—with a special course-oriented glossary of terms and non-technical definitions.

LEARN QUICKLY

You learn the most important material, with no fat or extras. PMC gets right to the "heart" of the subject quickly and surely. To accomplish this, the goals of each course are carefully established and are clearly spelled out under the LEARNING OBJECTIVES heading for each course.

COMPLETE REFERENCE MATERIAL

Each course includes a workbook with course notes, selected background material, suggested reading list, a glossary of terms and a self-correct review that evaluates your familiarity with key course ideas and terms. CERTIFICATE OF ACHIEVEMENT Upon the completion of the course a handsome Certificate of Achievement will be awarded.

SKIRM'S IS SOLD

To Mrs. Brophy. "Everything will be kept the same," promises Mrs. Thomas Brophy, new owner of Skirm's Smoke Shop. "It worked for 104 years, so let it work for another 104."

Eileen Brophy, who gained retail experience in nine years with her husband's shoe store, has moved Skirm's — yes, it will still be called "Skirm's" — to 6 Chambers Street. That's where you'll find her starting next Monday, with Timmy Desmond, who was associated for more than 20 years with the old Skirm's.

Before you have a chance to ask whether a lovely young woman knows how to mix tobacco, Eileen tells you

"Since April 1, George (Wood, former Skirm's owner) has been teaching and helping me — and of course, I'll have Timmy."

And Magazines. By next month, she'll be getting in the magazines that used to be a staple, but had been dropped in recent weeks. If you'd like a foreign specialty — say, the London Times — ask Eileen, and she'll get it for you. She anticipates a keen interest in foreign publications, with the campus and its international student-body close by.

And, of course, candy bars and gum, lighters and all the smoking accessories, the pipes and humidors known to all former Skirm customers.

This native of Crosswicks — "George Washington slept there and so did I!" — already knows the exotic inventory in her specialty shop. Djaram cigarettes from Indonesia, Gitanes from Canada, the suave English imports like Lambert and Butler, Sobranie, Dunhill, Rothmans, Benson and Hedges...

In her special humidior showcase, she keeps cigars like the Partagas that cost $2.10 apiece. But you can buy a cigar for as little as 22 cents. From the Dominican Republic, Holland, Jamaica, Denmark, Switzerland.....

And if you buy a whole box, of 10, 25 or 50, she will give you ten percent off.

She plans to have Skirm's open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Mondays through Fridays, and from 9:30 to 8 on Saturdays. Closed Sundays. Slightly different hours from the ones you may be accustomed to.

Why did she buy Skirm's? "Because my husband had this love for the old businesses in Princeton, I wanted to keep this particular one in town."

CHANGE IN OWNERSHIP

For New Jersey Monthly. Directors and shareholders of New Jersey Monthly are expected to approve the sale of the financially troubled magazine to the publisher of the Morristown Daily Record this week.

According to John G. Pontius of Rolling Hill Road, Skillman, the publisher, Norman G. Tomlinson, publisher of The Daily Record, has made an offer that would make him majority shareholder in Aylesworth Communications, present owner of the monthly. Following a meeting last week between both parties to iron out details, the offer will be presented to Aylesworth shareholders this Wednesday.

Along with several other newspaper publishers, Mr.

Tomlinson was one of the original group of investors who provided the capital to start the magazine nearly six years ago. If his bid is accepted, Mr. Tomlinson will hold 51 percent of the stock or a controlling ownership of the publication. He is expected to be named publisher and perhaps also president of Aylesworth, a post now held by Mr. Pontius.

Mr. Tomlinson has told the staff at New Jersey Monthly that he intends to cut administrative and general costs by moving the magazine's operation from rented space in Research Park on State Road to The Daily Record Building in Morristown. Mr. Pontius said he believed that there would be no major changes in the direction of the magazine and that Ben Yagoda would continue as editor.

Mr. Pontius said he will not be moving to Morristown with the paper. He joined New Jersey Monthly in August, 1980, with the intention, he said, of serving a two-year stint "to put the magazine in the black operationally."

New Jersey Monthly has never made a profit. Although an operating profit was projected for 1982, advertising sales for the first quarter were soft. But Mr. Pontius says that was the case for most city and regional magazines and was a reflection of the economy and not the individual publication.

The magazine's circulation is close to 100,000 and its renewal rate stands at 70 percent, which Mr. Pontius called "extremely high" and an indication of reader interest.

AFFILIATION ANNOUNCED

With Malpractice Liability Firm. Donald Smith, executive vice president of Princeton Insurance Company and the Health Care Insurance Exchange, and Mel A. Adlerman, of Adlerman, Click and Company, have announced the appointment of Adlerman, Click and Company as Princeton Insurance Company's newest full line agency in New Jersey.

The Princeton Insurance Company, a leader in malpractice professional liability insurance, is currently providing insurance coverages for hospitals, doctors, nurses, and other allied medical practitioners throughout the state. Adlerman, Click and Company founded in 1927, is one of New Jersey's oldest and largest general insurance agencies and is a full line property and casualty agent for many insurance companies.

Their affiliate company, Adlerman, Click and Halberstadt, offers financial planning, employee benefit programs, and life insurance. The company and its affiliate company occupy its own building at 15 Spring Street.

current president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference in Atlanta, Ga., will be the guest preacher at the University Chapel on Sunday at the 11 a.m. service.

In addition to his position with the SCLC, Dr. Lowery is pastor of the Central United Methodist Church in Atlanta and chairperson of the National Black Leadership Council. A long-time activist in the civil rights movement, Dr. Lowery recently led a 10,000-person march from Pickens County, Alabama to Montgomery in support of the extension of the Voting Rights Act and to call for economic justice.

The weekend will conclude with "Conversation with Dr. Lowery," a gathering for all to share questions and concerns with him. It will take place at 2:30 p.m. Sunday afternoon in McCosh 10.

'DIALOGUE' BOWS

At Unitarian Church. A new event for adults called "Dialogue" will take place this Saturday evening at the Unitarian Church to which interested members of the public are invited.

With a format that combines small group discussions with general sociability, Dialogue has been conducted since January primarily among church-goers on a pilot basis with great success. Now Dialogue's Steering Committee has decided to promote the event to the public as a community service.

Dialogue is open to any adult, whether married or single. Diversity in age and background is encouraged. Participants start gathering at 7:30 and should arrive by 8:15 to assure registration for a small group discussion. Discussions encourage sharing of thoughts, experiences, and feelings about significant life issues.

Groups are small (8-10) and a trained facilitator, or resource person, is in each group. Before and after discussions there is general sociability in the lounge with light snacks and beverages. Donation is $3 per person.

The objective is to provide an environment in which participants can have a warm, friendly, and stimulating experience. Committee members have just one expectation of participants — that each person will help others feel comfortable and appreciated.

The next Dialogue is scheduled for Saturday, May 15.

TALKS SCHEDULED

By Christian Science Lecturer, Mrs. Jean D. Louis, a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, will speak Thursday, April 22, at 8 at John Witherspoon School. The theme of her talk will be "The Liberating Power of Christian Science Healing."

Mrs. Louis is a Christian Science practitioner from the Transvaal province of South Africa who has been active in the full-time healing ministry of her church for more than a decade. She points out that many people are aware of Christian Science's record of healing through prayer.

However, she says that "physical healing is not the main purpose of Christian Science, as important as that is. Its main purpose is the healing of sin, the purification of human self-regeneration."

Mrs. Louis will be introduced by Edward Starnes, a member of the First Church of Christ Scientist, Princeton, which is sponsoring the event.

SPECIAL SERVICES SET

At Witherspoon Church. A Post Easter Revival will be held at Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church on April 18, 19, 20, 21. The theme "Jesus Lives" will be addressed by guest ministers.

The first service on Sunday will begin at 4 p.m., with Rev. Jerome Cooper and his choir of the Berean United Presbyterian Church of Philadelphia. The remaining services will be held at 7:30 each evening.

Other guest speakers include the Rev. Hendericks Davis, associate director of Field Education, Princeton Theological Seminary; the Rev. William DeVeaux, assistant director of the Funds for Theological Education, and the Rev. Parthia Hall Wynn, pastor of Mt. Sharon Baptist Church, Philadelphia. The public is invited.

BULLETIN NOTES

The Gospel Fellowship of Plainsboro will meet Saturday at 8 at the Holiday Inn. Ralph Maselli, pastor of the Hightstown Assembly of God and principal of the Life Learning Center Christian School in Hightstown, will be the guest speaker.

The Gospel Fellowship meets regularly in Plainsboro on Sunday mornings at 10 and Friday evenings at 8. It holds special meetings at the Holiday Inn on the third Saturday of each month to which the entire Christian community is invited.

The meeting Saturday will begin at 8 with personal ministry and prayer. For further information call 921-0267.

The Jewish Center, 457 Nassau Street, will present Rabbi Danny Grossman and Elayne Grossman, a singer, in a concert and lesson in Jewish music and sign language on Sunday at 8.

Admission is free, and donations will be accepted.

First Baptist Church, John Street and Paul Robeson

Place, will hold its annual Youth Revival on Sunday.

The service at 9:30 will include movies, skits and an old-time song festival. The Rev. Keith A. Marshall of Trenton will be the guest speaker at the 11 a.m. worship service. Several Trenton and Princeton area youth choirs will sing.

The public is invited.

The Hopewell Presbyterian Church, corner of Broad and Louellen Streets, will hold its annual Spring Rummage Sale on Thursday, April 22, from 9:30 to 6 and on Friday, April 23, from 10 to noon. Depending on the weather, large items will be sold outside, beginning at 9 on Thursday.

On Friday there will be "a dollar-a-bag" day (all you can put in a grocery bag).

A portion of the proceeds will be used for the Rev. John H. Ginter Memorial Scholarship Fund, given to a Hopewell student for further education.

Archbishop Pio Laghi, Apostolic Delegate in the United States representing the Holy See of the Roman Catholic Church, will visit Princeton Theological Seminary on Monday. He will speak at the Chapel service at 12 noon and give an address at 2:30 p.m. in the Main Lounge of the Campus Center.

Richard H. Weber, 65, of R.D. 1, Canal Road, Rocky Hill, died April 10 in Princeton Medical Center.

Born in Harrison, Mr. Weber had been a Rocky Hill area resident most of his life. For the past nine years he had been employed as an operating engineer at the New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute. Previously he was a self-employed farmer.

Son of the late Richard and Martha Weber, he is survived by a sister, Margaret Boeslager of Rocky Hill, and several nieces and nephews.

The service was held at the Kimble Funeral Home, the Rev. Allen A. Gartner, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Messiah officiating. Burial was in Rocky Hill Cemetery. Contributions may be made to the American Heart Association or to the Lutheran Church of the Messiah.

Eva S. Shreve, 80, of 99 Harris Road, Princeton Junction, died April 10 at Mercer Medical Center.

Mrs. Shreve was born in Harrison, Tenn., and was a long-time resident of Absecon before moving to Princeton Junction a year ago.

Wife of the late Philo Shreve, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Carol Attenborough, with whom she resided; a granddaughter and a great-granddaughter.

A memorial service will be held Sunday at 7 p.m., at the United Methodist Church in Absecon. Private burial will be in Atlantic City Cemetery under the direction of the Kimble Funeral Home. Memorial contributions may be made to the Twin W First Aid and Rescue Squad.

Warren B. Martin, 65, professor of music theory at Westminster Choir College, died April 10 at Princeton Medical Center after a long illness.

Since joining the faculty at Westminster in 1950 as head of graduate studies, Prof. Martin held many positions at the college including that of musical director and head of the department of music theory, history and literature. He had been a conductor of both The Westminster Choir and The Westminster Symphonic Choir — preparing the latter in numbers of works for performance and recordings for such conductors as Stokowski, Walter, von Karajan, Mitropoulos and Bernstein.

Matriculating at age 15, Prof. Martin earned his bachelor and masters degrees at Westminster. After graduation he accepted the position as organist of the First Congregational Church of Los Angeles, the largest church of that denomination in the country. In 1941 he entered the army, serving four years in the U.S. and France. After the war he returned to the Los Angeles church as organist-director, becoming one of the most sought-after organ recitalists on the West Coast. In 1940 he became Director of Music at the Rockefeller Memorial Chapel of the University of Chicago.

A pupil of Roy Harris and Paul Boepple, Mr. Martin was a versatile composer whose works include anthems, songs, chamber, choral and orchestral music published by Curci Fischer, Presser, Mercury and Broude Brothers. For more than 30 years his "Processional" and "Anthem of Dedication" have been part of the Westminster commencement tradition.

His musical activities were numerous and varied. He was a member of The Westminster Choir during its 1934 European tour; he toured as a member of a vocal quartet; played the violin and viola with chamber groups; coached and accompanied singers and string players; participated as a pianist in performance of chamber music and as an orchestral soloist; wrote and directed background music for religious film shorts; was consultant for the American Guild of Organists. Burial was in Ewing Cemetery. Memorial contributions may be made to the memorial fund of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church.

He had been musical director and arranger for productions of the Princeton Community Players and was vocal coach for Roger Sessions' opera, "The Trial of Lucilius."

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. J. Kent Martin, of Galeton, Pa.; a sister, Esther Martin, of Blacksburg, Va.; a brother, Paul Martin, of Sharpsville, Pa., and nieces and nephews. Services and burial will be held in Galeton on Thursday.

The family requests that donations be made to Westminster Choir College in lieu of flowers.

Alice Eubank Burke died at her home on Springdale Road on April 10. She was the former wife of James E. Burke of Constitution Hill.

Mrs. Burke, who was 56, was born in Waco, Tex. She was graduated from Sweet Briar College in 1940 and then served on the staff of the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

She was a member of the McCarter Associates board of directors, a trustee of the Friends of the New Jersey State Museum in Trenton, a former trustee of the New Jersey Neuropsychiatric Institute in Skillman, and co-chairperson of the Gallery at the Stuart Country Day School. She was a parishioner of Trinity Episcopal Church.

She leaves her mother, Clotilde Eubank, a son, James, and a daughter, Mary Clotilde, all of Princeton.

A memorial service was held at Trinity Church. Memorial contributions may be made to the American Cancer Society.

Mrs. Nancy H. Zarker of Jefferson Road died April 12 at her home. Born in Columbia, Pa., Mrs. Zarker had lived in Princeton since 1938.

She was a member of the Princeton United Methodist Church, the Women's Club of Princeton, the Present Day Club, and the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Surviving are her husband, Harold E. Zarker; her daughter and son-in-law, Nancy D. and William D. Jones, and two grandchildren, all of Belle Mead.

The service will be held this Wednesday at 8 at the Kimble Funeral Home, One Hamilton Avenue. The Rev. James Harris, pastor of the United Methodist Church, will officiate. Private burial will be held Thursday in Greenwood Cemetery, Lancaster, Pa.

Memorial contributions may be made to the American Heart Association.

Walter C. King, 72, of Pennington, died April 7 in Princeton Medical Center.

Born in Trenton, Mr. King had lived in Pennington for the past 45 years. He was owner, with his son, of W.C. King and Son Plumbing and Heating, of Pennington, which he established in 1937. He retired in 1972.

Mr. King was a former member of the Hopewell Township Lions Club.

Husband of the late Dorothy Dunn King, he is survived by two sons, John R. King of Pennington and Walter C. King II of Newton, Conn.; a sister, Mrs. Phyllis Hicks of Metuchen, and four grandchildren.

 OUR PROMISE TO PRINCETON CONSUMERS:

 IF YOU HAVE A COMPLAINT against any local business firm, just call 924-8223 and a Consumer Bureau representative will investigate and mediate, then, if you are not satisfied and

 IF CONSUMER BUREAU'S ALL-CONSUMER PANEL AGREES that your complaint is valid, the business firm involved has only two choices: either satisfy your complaint promptly or lose its Consumer Bureau Registration

 YOU CAN CHECK by phone any time you like whether any local business firm you name is Consumer Bureau Registered

(Not all reliable local firms are Registered, but for every Registered firm we have been obliged to take off our Register, ten times that number of UnRegistered firms have failed to meet our standards of reliability.)

Land Use Has Replaced Soil Erosion as Chief Concern Facing Watersheds Association Soon to Mark 30th Year

A watershed is the geographical area drained by a single river system.

The Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds are the lands forming the drainage basin of the Millstone River and its tributaries, the largest of which is Stony Brook. Extending from the Amwells and Hillsborough on its widest side, to Millstone at its narrowest, and from North Brunswick to the Hopewells, the basin is a heart-shaped region covering 265 square miles and 26 municipalities in five counties at the very core of New Jersey.

TRANQUIL STRETCH OF STONY BROOK: The Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association takes seriously the protection of stream corridors and water quality on a region-wide basis and for long term benefits.

The Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association is a tax-exempt, non-profit organization supported by members dedicated to "the environmental integrity of its entire region." Incorporated in 1951, it was the first watershed association in New Jersey and is the second oldest in the United States.

This week it is celebrating its 30th year with a by-invitation-only dinner at Prospect at which Russell Train, chairman of the World Wildlife Fund and first director of the Council on Environmental Quality, will speak. On Monday, April 26 at 8, also in celebration of the 30th year, the Association will present a public lecture by Douglas Costle, EPA administrator from 1977-78, who will speak on "A New Perspective on the Environmental Revolution." That lecture will be held in the Woodrow Wilson School Auditorium.

The Stony-Brook Millstone Watersheds Association was founded by a group of land-owners who were concerned about the silting of streams and ponds due to soil run-off from heavy agricultural land use. James Gaffney, the Association's knowledgeable young director, feels that the organization is a very different entity today from what it was in 1951 when it dealt primarily with soil erosion and sediment control problems.

Although the Association still maintains three sediment control dams and encourages land use practices that keep soil out of streams and ponds, the focus of its attention has shifted to what Mr. Gaffney calls "overarching" issues that affect the whole Millstone Basin. He cites the I-95 controversy, in which the Association first became involved in 1965, and the dispute over a single large-scale sewerage treatment with miles of connecting interceptor vs. two small outlying plants, as examples of infrastructure changes which allow for growth at levels that are inappropriate for the available resources.

Water, Water. By resources Mr. Gaffney is primarily thinking of water — water for drinking, cooking, bathing, swimming, fishing, canoeing, water for wildlife and for the increasingly meticulous needs of industry. He speaks of protecting the physical water course and its adjacent land features as well as the chemical properties of the water itself, so that life forms within the water are maintained and the stream or pond remains viable for recreational purposes and aesthetic pleasure.

This involves certain management practices in siting, engineering and maintaining such things as septic tanks and waste treatment plants that are part and parcel of development. Mr. Gaffney is not opposed to development per se, because he knows it is inevitable, particularly in this strategic area midway between New York and Philadelphia, but he feels pressure can be brought to bear against "misplacement" or development that "exceeds the capacity of resources to replenish themselves."

In 1974 the Watersheds Association produced an educational film entitled, "Land is Not a Product," to show the effects of haphazard development on streams and wetlands. The film was shown to schools and civic groups.

The Federal Water Pollution Control Act, or Clean Water Act, of 1972 sought to make rivers and streams "fishable and swimmable" by setting clean water standards and regulations for discharges of pollutants, including toxic substances, into the nation's waterways. Section 208 of that act sought to enlist local participation in the process of developing area-wide water quality plans. Mr. Gaffney's predecessor, Adele Mitchell, was deeply involved in "208" water quality plans for Mercer and Middlesex Counties.

Mr. Gaffney himself is becoming increasingly interested in the protection of ground water and ground water recharge areas. Not only does ground water come up to the surface to keep streams flowing even in times of drought, but it is a large component of drinking water supplies in this area. For Cranbury and South Brunswick it is the only source.

Contamination a Concern. Contamination of ground water by hazardous waste is of concern not only for the aquatic ecosystems that keep streams sparkling but also for human health. Rocky Hill, Montgomery and South Brunswick each have lost all or part of their ground water drinking supplies due to contamination from improper waste disposal practices.

"It is a serious problem," Mr. Gaffney says, "and it is not going to go away with federal funds to clean up the worst sites." Leachate containing chemicals from a closed industrial landfill in South Brunswick that is not on the clean-up list is seeping into the headwaters of Heathcote Brook, which in turn empties into the Millstone below Lake Carnegie.

The state DEP and the Delaware River Basin Commission have been conducting a study of how to go about siting and constructing a hazardous waste treatment of storage facility. Because of the impervious clay belt under this area, there is a "potential chance" that such a facility could be located in the Millstone Basin.

"I'm not promoting hazardous waste treatment," Mr. Gaffney notes, "but it is coming, given the seriousness of the state's problem, and we're going to have to be coldly sober when we go into it." The Watersheds Association held a major conference on the subject last fall. It has also produced a booklet, "How Safe is Your Drinking Water?" a handbook for well-owners.

Mr. Gaffney feels that the political process has as much to do with the environment as ecological laws, and that federal, state and state laws each have a part to play. The quality of a basin, he says, is determined by land use and water policies. The federal and state governments design requirements and set standards, but it is the local municipality that decides "where you put things."

The Watersheds Association is currently undertaking an analysis of the site planning ordinances in 20 communities. The study will lead to recommendations for stream corridor protection, clustering of development and aquifer protection that will be presented to local planning boards beginning this fall. In 1972 the Association helped produce an inventory of natural resources that played an important role in shaping elements of the Master Plan in Princeton and two other communities.

In 1981 Mr. Gaffney was chairman of a coalition of 14 New Jersey environmental organizations formed to devise solutions to the state's

THAT KICK — OOPS — LINE IN REHEARSAL: Members of Triangle Club's famous all-male kick-line in the early days of rehearsal for this year's show, "Stocks and Bondage." It will open April 29 at McCarter Theatre, and it's the 93rd annual show.

News Of The THEATRES

IT'S A GIRL!
Triangle Director, Triangle Club is making a big thing out of the fact that, for the first time in its 93-year history, it has a woman director for its annual musical. She is Miriam Fond, a pro who has worked widely in off-Broadway revues, cabaret theatres, regional and summer-stock theatres throughout the country.

One of her most successful revues, "Whnt's a Nice Country Like You Doing in a State Like This?" toured the United States and Canada after a successful New York run.

In addition to her experience as a director of revues, she has staged musicals, operns and plays.

This year's musical, a revue, is "Stocks and Bondage," a day in the life of the working world. It will open Friday, April 29 at McCarter, playing April 30 and May 1 and 2.

Attract Community? "By choosing the theme of a day in the working world, rather than campus life," says Triangle president Ted Gagliano, "we hope to broaden the base of appeal to include the whole community as well as the student body."

Choreographer for "Stocks and Bondage" is also a pro. She is Dinna Baffa-Brill, who has danced in "Mame" and in various TV shows. As a choreographer, she re-staged "Mame" for the national company of the show, and has done extensive work in summer stock. Her most recent project, "Great Expectations," is scheduled for Broadway this fall.

This Triangle is also the first to have a professional music director. Albert Evans, who was music director for Ms. Fond's last New York show, will do the orchestrations, vocal arrangements and coaching.

Dick Block will be set consultant during the building of the show. Debra Stein, returning for her third year with Triangle, will handle the costumes.

But all the material for the show will, as always, be written, composed and performed by undergraduates at Princeton University.

ing newsreels, fictional archive footage and flashbacks, the film draws parallels which seem uncanny, viewed in the light of the current crisis.

The protagonist is a student of film-making attempting to make a documentary about a bricklayer who was hailed as a hero, but disappeared suddenly from the record books in 1952. As the student fights her way through bureaucracy to make her film, she must finally decide whether to pursue truth in spite of obstacles.

IN THE OPEN AIR
New Season Announced. A musical comedy written in 1767 will play a return engagement — it was last seen during Bicentennial celebrations — at the Open Air Theatre, Washington Crossing State Park in the new summer season, it was announced this week.

The musical is "The Disappointment," or "The Force of Credulity," and it will bring the season to a close in September.

We open, however, with Shakespeare. It's "A Midsummer Night's Dream" in the production of Shakespeare '70, and it will be presented at the theatre's opening night, June 17, and again June 18 and 19.

FOR SOLIDARITY
Polish Union to Benefit.
Part of the proceeds from ten showings of Andrzej Wajda's prize-winning film, "Man of Marble," will benefit the Princeton Committee for Polish Solidarity.

The film will be shown in Kresge Auditorium (Frick Chemical Building, Washington Road) April 19, 20 and 21 and will move to McCosh 10 on the Princeton University campus for screenings April 22 and 23. It will be shown twice on all five nights at a $2.75 ticket price. Screenings will be at 7 and 9:45.

Released in 1977, "Man of Marble" follows the course of Polish Communism from the late 1940s through the political thaw of 1956 to the present. Us-given July 22, 23 and 24 and 29, 30 and 31. "Damn Yankees" will follow on August 5, 6 and 7 and 12, 13 and 14. The production is by Princeton Community Players.

Open Air's production of "The Disappointment" commemorates the 250th anniversary of the birth of George Washington. Written by an "Andrew Barton" — believed to be a pseudonym for Thomas Forrest, a Philadelphian who was a lieutenant colonel in the Colonial Army — the musical uses the popular music of the period, including that perennial hit, "Yankee Doodle."

In its day, "The Disappointment" was frowned upon because it was regarded as "coarse, immoral and unfit for the stage." But the Open Air Theatre assures audiences that the broad humor in the play will not offend today's theatre-goers.

The amphitheatre that constitutes the Open Air theatre is being retraced and landscaped to improve aisles and seating. Ticket prices will be the same as last year: $5 for adults on Fridays and Saturdays; $4 for adults on Thursdays and $1.50 for students. Group rates are also available.

Details about tickets and reservations may be obtained by writing W.C.A.N.J., Box 562, RR 2, Titusville, N.J., 08560.

BALLET FOR CHILDREN

Free, Full-Length. Two thousand students from public and private schools in the area are expected to attend a free ballet performance for elementary school students to be presented by the Princeton Ballet Tuesday, April 20 at the War Memorial in Trenton.

For the students, in grades one through eight, the Ballet has planned a program consisting of five short ballets. Highlight will be "Big Top," a circus ballet choreographed by the company's ballet master, Dermot Burke. Dancers from the Princeton Ballet's professional and apprentice companies will be joined by students from the Princeton Ballet Society School of Ballet.

"The company's founder-director Audree Estey, has long been committed to bringing fine dance to Trenton," says Jane Gifford, associate director of the company. "We are particularly delighted that funding has been made available to bring a full-length, free performance to students who might otherwise be unable to see a ballet performance."

Funding is from the New Jersey State Council on the Arts, the Mercer County Cultural and Heritage Commission, the Merck Company Foundation and an anonymous foundation.

TALENTED STUDENTS
Auditions Planned.
Students with a background in music, dance or theatre are invited by the New Jersey Center for the Performing Arts to audition for a "Summer Showcase" series, an early fall production of "Grease" and a street festival.

Any kind of performing artist or group may apply, but performers must have a self-contained act; that is, singers must have their own accompanists, and so on. Those chosen will be designated "intern applicants." They must be at least 16, have their own transportation and be able to perform in the evenings.

Those who are interested are invited to send a letter and resume to the New Jersey Center for the Performing Arts, 17 Division Street, Somerville, N.J., 08876.

ROTARY DINES
Dinner-Theatre. Princeton's Rotary Club was one of five in Mercer County invited to a pilot dinner-theatre project now in the development stages at Mercer County Community College. Approximately 150 members of Rotary and their wives attended a recent performance of "Sly Fox" at the Kelsey Theatre on campus, after a buffet supper in the MCCC student center.

The college is now planning similar dinner-theatre arrangements in conjunction with future productions by Mercer College Theatre. Organizations interested in the possibilities of this project as a fund-raiser are invited to call 586-4800, ext. 581.

Fund-Raising Plans Now Under Way For Summer Theatre in Princeton

Fund-raising plans are now under way to bring summer theatre back to Princeton, it was announced this week.

"NewStage at Intime," a new company of Princeton University students and members of Princeton's theatre community, hopes to produce three non-Equity plays, and a special one-woman show by a professional.

Open auditions for the entire Princeton community will be held in May, and rehearsals will start in June.

However ... Princeton University requires NewStage to present pledges of support in the amount of $10,000 — a percentage of which must be in cash. So NewStage is asking for financial support from the Princeton area for a theatre for the Princeton community.

The company will perform in Murray Theatre, on the University campus, the winter home of Theatre Intime. Veronica Brndy, of the McCarter Theatre Company, will be Artistic Director and Susan Smith, a senior at Princeton, will be Managing Director.

Information about the company, and more information about fund-raising, may be obtained from Ms. Smith at 609-734-0805. Donations and pledges should be made to NewStage at Intime, and mailed to 99 Alexander Street, Princeton.

THREADS FROM A STRING ... When the Joffrey II dancers come to McCarter (Joffrey II is the young farm team of the main company), they will perform, among other works, "Threads from a String of Swing." Here are Lael Evans and Ron Reagan (yep, Ron Reagan) in a scene from the ballet.

RAINBOW ENUFF?
Shange Work to be Performed. "For Colored Girls Who Have Considered Suicide When the Rainbow is Enuff," the celebration of black womanhood by Ntozake Shange, will be given this week-end and next by Princeton University's Program in Theatre and Dance. "For Colored Girls" will open this Friday at 8 in the Acting Studio at 185 Nassau, and will play again this Saturday and Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 22, 23 and 24 at the same time and place.

Originally performed in a women's bar in Berkeley in 1974, the play is actually a series of dramatic poems which are spoken, sung, danced and acted by a company of six black women. By turns, the words are comic, serious, celebrating, or crying out at a world which has limited the horizons of black women.

Ms. Shange has written that she considers herself primarily a poet: "I'm a poet / who writes in english / come to share our world with / we come here to be dancein'."

Michelle MacIntyre is directing. Reservations may be made at 452-3676 week-days.

FOOLIE-WOOLIES
Benefit Revue. "Faculty Staff Foolies," a fund-raiser for Trenton State College's James J. Forcina Scholarship Fund, will be given Tuesday, April 27 at 8 in Kendall Hall on the Trenton State campus. Described as "a light-hearted 'April Foolie' revue, the show will have comedy acts, dancing and a singing chorus line.

Dr. Forcina, a graduate of Trenton State in 1938 and the college's executive vice-president emeritus, won the 1980 TSC Alumni Citation for outstanding service to college and community.

A scholarship in his memory will be awarded each year to an entering freshman from the greater Trenton area, starting in 1982.

'H.M.S. PINAFORE'
At Douglass College. With Her Majesty's fleet in the news, it is only appropriate that Rutgers University's Little Theatre at Douglass College, should produce Gilbert and Sullivan's "H.M.S. Pinafore," and that is exactly what they are doing.

The comic opera will be given at 8 p.m. this Friday and Saturday and again next Tuesday through Saturday. Sunday matinees April 16 and 25 will be at 2 p.m. The theatre is on Nichol Avenue, New Brunswick, on the Douglass campus.

The Rutgers production has an all-student cast of 28, including a chorus of 18. It is the first joint production of the theatre and music departments of the Mason Gross School of the Arts, and it concludes the season's theatre subscription series.

OWL, PUSSYCAT
In Bucks County. The bookstore clerk and the "actress" in Bill Manoff's comedy, "The Owl and the Pussycat" will once again prowl the stage when the play opens this Thursday at the Bucks County Playhouse, New Hope. It will run through April 25.

The clerk, you will recall, fancies himself a writer. The "actress" actually is a pro in the oldest profession in the world. The roles will be portrayed by Sterling Coyne and Avah Mealy. Richard Akins will direct.

ALL BACH
By Tafelmusik. Canada's Baroque orchestra, Tafelmusik of Toronto, will play an all-Bach program on original instruments next Monday at 8 on McCarter's stage. It is the first United States tour for the group, which is appearing in the Music-at-McCarter series.

The program will consist of the Suite Number One for Orchestra; the Brandenburg Concerto No. 5, in which recorder soloist Frans Bruegggen of Holland will be joined by Tafelmusik's concertmaster Jean Lamon, with Charlotte Nediger at the harpsichord.

Mr. Bruegggen will also be featured soloist in the D Major Concerto for recorder and a suite for recorder, flute, strings and continuo, arranged by him from the Sinfonias of four Bach Cantatas.

Standing-room only is available at $6. Detailed information is available from the theatre's ticket office, 921-8700, from noon to 6.

FINAL CONCERT SET
By Musica Alta. Musica Alta, the group for the performance of old music at Princeton University, will give its last concert of the 1981-82 season on Friday, April 23 at 8:30 p.m. in Alexander Hall (on campus). The concert is under the direction of Katherine Rohrer and is sponsored by the Friends of Music at Princeton. The public is invited, admission free.

Most of the program will consist of the works of Gilles Binchois (ca. 1400-1460). His compositions for sacred music will be performed by a small choir, his secular music by vocal soloists and instruments. Binchois was composer at the court of Philip the Good, Duke of Burgundy, who was a music patron during the first half of the 15th century.

For further information call the Concert Office, 924-0453.

Kean for April 23-25 — will be observed with fervor by the Princeton Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, one of 21 such chapters in New Jersey alone. The group will present its 13th annual show, "Nothing Like a Girl," at Lawrence High School Friday and Saturday, April 23 and 24, at 8 p.m. Singers promise songs about what they call "the fair and fragile sex," by the Garden Statesmen Chorus of the Princeton Chapter.

The lead in one quartet will be sung by the youngest member of the Princeton Chapter who is 14, and the bass by his 80-year-old grandfather. There, now!

Proceeds for public performances by the organization help to support The Institute of Logopedics, which provides therapy for children with speech defects. More than $4 million has been contributed by the Society so far.

Tickets for the Lawrence High performances are $4.50 and may be purchased at the door or reserved by calling 609-882-2567 or 452-2679.

CONCERT PLANNED
By Madrigal Society. The Princeton Madrigal Society, under the direction of Janet Davis, will give a concert in Alexander Hall on Sunday, April 25 at 3. The concert is sponsored by the Friends of Music, and is open to the public, admission free.

Princeton University senior Nina Gilbert formed the Madrigal Society in 1976, and the group made its debut that spring at the Princeton University Art Museum. The group is composed of singers affiliated with the University and has given numerous concerts in the area and on college campuses along the east coast. Last fall, the Madrigal Society toured the campuses of Swarthmore and Haverford and performed at the Philadelphia Museum of Art. On March 6, 1982 it came in second at the Great American Choral Competition, held in Baltimore, and first in the University Division.

Janet Davis, the current conductor, has a master's degree in choral conducting from Westminster Choir College. Last season she directed the chorus in the Opera Theater's production of "Der Freischutz" and has done the same for the "Fidelio" production this season. She is also the assistant director of the Princeton University Opera and the conductor of the Princeton Camerata.

The program will include works by Poulenc, Purcell, Byrd, Monteverdi, Josquin, Palestrina, Lassus, Morley and Weelkes.

SINGERS, MUSICIANS
Sought for Beethoven Work. The Princeton chapter of Performing Artists for Nuclear Disarmament has sent out a call for singers and musicians to participate in the fourth movement of Beethoven's Ninth Symphony, planned as the culminating event of the Festival for Peace on May 22. Individual musicians, professional and amateur, as well as choruses and groups are invited to perform under the leadership of Michael Pratt, conductor of the Princeton University Orchestra. Janet Davis, choral director for this year's University production of "Fidelio," will rehearse and conduct the chorus, and Jayn Rosenfeld will coordinate the event with the rest of the Festival. The Beethoven selection will be presented in Alexander Hall at the end of an afternoon of more than 50 performances by more than 100 area performing artists. The Festival is meant to draw attention to the issue of nuclear disarmament, and its performers will present theater, dance, music and media performances which reflect concern for the state of the world. The final movement of the Ninth Symphony includes the well known "Ode to Joy," which Festival organizers hope will celebrate the life affirming impulses implicit in the afternoon's events. The words to the best known parts of the choral passage will be distributed to the audience, so those who wish can join the large orchestra and chorus in song.

The Festival for Peace is being organized by area artists as part of a nationwide campaign for nuclear disarmament. The day itself will include classical, rock, folk and contemporary music, theater selections ranging from original serious plays to a Dada Cabaret, and dances celebrating joy and warning of danger. Area artists such as Jim Randall, Geulah Abrahams, Ann Mokler, Penelope Itted, Laurence Holofcener, Imogen Wheeler and Susan Tenney, as well as groups such as Creative Theater, Loose Joints and the Metrics will perform inside and out in a dozen locations on and off Nassau Street. All events will be free, and there will be food, balloons, maps and guides to help audiences move easily between performances. At 4:30 there will be a procession to Alexander Hall where the Beethoven will conclude the day's events.

This spring the Ninth Symphony is being presented throughout the world as a call for nuclear disarmament. In June, New York artists expect half a million people in Central Park, where the Symphony for the United Nations will perform and lead the audience in the symphony.

Interested singers and musicians should phone Jayn Rosenfeld at 921-8651. For other Festival information, call Alan Mokler at 452-3676.

THREE TO PERFORM
In Lawrenceville Concert. The Lawrenceville School Music Department will give a concert Sunday at 4 in the school chapel. The music will offer pairings of cello, organ and piano. The program will include Debussy's Sonata for Cello and Piano, J.S. Bach's Fantasy in G for organ, Marcel DuPre's Sonata for Cello and Organ, and Cesar Franck's Symphonic Variations for Piano, with the orchestra part played on the 70-rank Lawrenceville chapel organ. Performers will be Norman Fischer, cello, Jeanne Fischer, piano, and Marilois Kierman, organ. The Fischers are graduates of Oberlin College and members of the Dartmouth College faculty. Mr. Fischer is a member of the Concord String Quartet. Ms. Kierman is Lawrenceville School organist and a graduate of Juilliard, Reed College and American University.

CHOIR TO SING
At Douglass College. Music for chorus, woodwinds and brass will be presented in a joint concert by the Rutgers University Choir and the Rutgers Wind Ensemble Saturday at 8 in the Nicholas Music Center, Rutgers University's new concert facility on the Douglass College campus. The mixed symphonic choir of 100 voices will be directed by Frederick Ford, an assistant professor of music, and Dr. Scott Whitener, an associate professor of music at Rutgers, will conduct the 50-piece woodwind and brass ensemble.

The featured work will be Anton Bruckner's "Mass in E minor," scored for eight-part chorus and wind ensemble. The program will also include two works by Johannes Brahms, "Fest- und Gedenkspruche" ("Words for Festive and Memorable Occasions") and "Begrabnisgesang" ("Burial Song"); Gustav Holst's "First Suite in E flat for Military Band"; and two fanfares for brass by Sir Arthur Bliss.

Tickets are $3 for the general public and $1.50 for students and senior citizens, and may be purchased at the door. The Nicholas Music Center is located across from the Levin Theater on the Douglass campus.

Tickets are also available at the concert box office of the Mason Gross School of the Arts, 358 George Street, New Brunswick, and at the Rivoli Music Store, 391 George Street.

ENJOY GOURMET LUNCH
At Eatery Amulette. There is indeed a magical quality about The Eatery Amulette, the aptly named natural foods restaurant in Monmouth Junction where one can find "wholesome homemade food with a foreign accent." The irrepressible enthusiasm of the restaurant's young owner, Susan Rodnon, makes a visit there not only a gourmet pleasure but lots of fun as well.

Just because Miss Rodnon serves natural food does not mean that her clientele is in the younger age bracket; old and young alike crowd into her cheerful establishment located in the Olde English Square on Ridge Road, (Route 522). They come for lunches and dinners of hot and hearty homemade soups, special sandwiches, whole wheat quiches, huge tempting salads, and meatless burgers to mention a few delights. Prices are most reasonable considering there is terrific live entertainment on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings until midnight.

The boundless energy of Eatery Amulette's 26-year-old owner pervades the atmosphere of her restaurant, which also offers a entering service to corporations and small businesses in the area. With the part-time help of four good employees, she manages to enter lunches for as many as 20 to 500 people! In addition to working six days a week and on weekend nights until around 2 a.m., Miss Rodnon teaches a class in natural and creative cooking on Wednesday nights at the YMCA.

"We have such a good time during the two-and-a-half-hour course that we usually run overtime and they have to kick us out of the building," she laughs. "Many people think that cooking with natural foods is more time consuming," she continues, "which is a myth." Her course — which may be repeated during the summer — teaches aspiring cooks simple methods and recipes to make such cooking time efficient. There are little tricks to learn, such as a tiny bit of preparation in the morning before starting off to work which will help one to cook healthier foods in a shorter time.

Miss Rodnon's background in economics has served her in good stead since she opened her shop - restaurant two and a half years ago when she was only 23. Her cooking experience began with small dinners for friends while she was studying at Amherst College. "I know I'm young and people say I have a lot of guts to have done this but I really knew what I wanted to do, and I went for it at a time in my life when I had no other large responsibilities and that's a great advantage," she explains with a smile.

While she grew up loving to cook and play around in the kitchen, she has found that it takes a great deal more than liking to eat and cook to make such a business successful. She says that the challenge of learning something every day is what intrigues her about the food business; for example, accounting, public relations, and managerial responsibilities. The integration of these skills, personal appeal, and just plain hard work has obviously paid off as Eatery Amulette's business increases weekly.

"My customers are my friends. I can't think of anywhere I'd rather be on a weekend; we have so much fun together," Miss Rodnon continues. Her clients bring their own wine or beer, have dinner, and stay for hours listening to one of the fine groups of musicians who play there on weekends. The music might include folk, blue grass, jazz, blues or Irish folk. Whatever the group, they attract all ages.

According to the owner, many older people are frequenting the restaurant these days. Those in search of salt-free dishes who may have heart problems may be seen there, as well as young vegetarians who bring their parents for a taste of natural cooking.

"I don't make much money on the shop; I'm in it for the heart, not the pocketbook because I just won't sell inferior products," says Miss Rodnon, who also makes a variety of dishes to order. A phone message machine will take one's take-home order for soups, quiches, salads, fish or vegetable plates. One favorite is the salade nicoise. Luncheon bours are from noon until 2 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday and dinner from 5 p.m. to midnight on weekend nights. The shop is open from 11 to 6 p.m. weekdays and on the weekends until midnight.

KOPP'S IN NEW SPOT

On Witherspoon Street. Added to the normal hustle and bustle of Witherspoon Street is a new storefront, housing a business that has thrived in Princeton for many years. There is a sort of lonely feeling as one glances down John Street now, missing the familiar sight of cyclists biking to and from the place where Kopp's Cycles flourished for 30 years.

There is only a touch of nostalgia in Kopp's spanking new shop located opposite the library at 43 Witherspoon Street, a lovely watercolor of the former storefront painted by a friend of Kopp's owner Fred Kuhn.

The Kuhn family is delighted with its new location which sports a large picture window where all of the latest imported and domestic bicycles in stock can be viewed from morning until late at night when the lights are turned off. Mr. Kuhn's only regret is his lack of storage space because the demand for the large range of bicycles he sells is ever increasing. Still, there are advantages to the forced move.

"We are more visible here. Business is great; there is so much traffic through the shop now," says one member of the family team, Charlie. Old-timers and beginners alike flock to Kopp's for new bikes, parts, backpacks, clothing, repairs and just plain good advice from this family which has a lot of expertise to offer its customers.

Kopp's is the nucleus and headquarters of the Century Road Club of America, founded in 1891, of which Fred Kuhn is president.

NEW KOPP'S: Fred Kuhn is seen here in front of his newly located Kopp's Cycle Shop at 43 Witherspoon St. The shop is enjoying a booming business, as scores of youngsters, tourists, and racers gather to look at the latest spring arrivals in bicycles, accessories and racing clothing.

Encouraged by Kopp's for many years, a group of young people from Princeton has been to the Olympic training camp in Colorado Springs. Many well known Princeton cyclists have begun their touring with Kopp's and have done very well in national competitions. They can be seen outside of the shop at all hours of the day.

Enthusiasm for touring is not limited to racers nowadays. It has become a national pastime as well. The touring market demand has increased greatly in the past three years and "tourists are fanatical about their gear," says Charlie Kuhn.

The bicycle shop is keeping pace with its customers' ever-expanding knowledge of touring and bicycle sophistication, by stocking the latest models of touring bikes from a variety of sources while trying to find the best quality at the best price. There is a big competition between exporting countries, which will work to the advantage of a shopper looking for a new bike. Each year Kopp's assists a group of cyclists from this area to plan a tour through Europe. A complete line of all of the gear necessary for this kind of trip — or one which will take a cyclist across this country — is available at the shop.

One of the hottest items now found at the store is a Miyata 310 made in Japan. This super model, the best construction for the best price ($335) features chromoly double-butted tubing which ensures the greatest strength. Instead of buying tubes and welding them together, the Miyata company takes its fine, properly gauged, tubing and builds a custom frame to specifications.

This flash butt welding system produces a more integrated frame with no loss in strength. This model's technology is based on Miyata's higher-priced bicycles which may also be found at Kopp's. They include: the semi-pro series, professional racing bikes, and the all-round sports series.

Marking its 100th anniversary, the Peugeot company has come out with a centennial special edition, the PH 12, featuring aerodynamic carbo profil tubing, also sold at the shop. Now is a good time to find reduced prices in French bikes, according to the Kuhns. A wide selection of other Peugeot and Raleigh bikes is in stock.

According to Fred Kuhn, the best American bikes made are those produced by another family-owned business, the Schwinn company. These quality products, long a favorite of Kopp's, have been for sale at the shop since 1952.

The fact the quality endures is easily proven time and again. The full line of Schwinn bikes — ever updated to fit the needs of athletic cyclists — may be purchased here.

One need only stand with Mr. Kuhn on Witherspoon Street, as he waves to some of the senior cyclists as they bike by, to attest to Schwinn's quality. "I sold that Schwinn to that old-timer in 1940," he will say. Just in case the young might not realize how long biking has been in fashion, an old shaft-drive Pope bicycle from 1900 hangs in the window to offset a sleek new bicycle-built-for-two by Schwinn. A new line of exercycles is now in stock for those into physical fitness.

The younger set will be delighted to see the latest models in dirt bikes. Among the most popular is the award-winning BMX, the Sting. Tires, seats, and other accessories for BMX can be obtained at Kopp's.

It will now be easier to dress the part with equipment from Kopp's as well as win the race. A handsome display of racing clothing, including Le Coq Sportif touring shorts and multi-colored racing jerseys, are decoratively hung all around the shop. Store hours are from 9:30 to 6 Monday through Wednesday and Saturday; Thursday and Friday the shop is open till 7 p.m.

Princeton Memorial Association Seeks To Educate People about Death and Grief

"Good Grief: Facing Death and Affirming Life" is the theme of this year's annual meeting of the Princeton Memorial Association, to be held this Sunday at 3 in the Unitarian Church, Cherry Hill and Route 206. The public is invited to attend.

The speaker will be Jeanne Dennis, former director of the hospice program of the El Cajon Valley (California) Hospital and former director of "Thanas," a bereavement counseling program in New York City. She is now with the hospice unit of the Cabrini Medical Center in New York, and has a private practice in grief counseling.

Her talk will address such questions as "Is grief necessary?" "How long should it last?" "Can we ignore it?" After her talk, she will answer questions and comments from the audience.

"The idea," says Peter Putnam, president of the Association and one of its founders, "is to get people to talk about death and grief, and to listen — to face it. A lot of people have trouble with this."

"In the past, you know, you were right there in the room, holding the hand at the time of death. A lot of people today have never even seen a dead person. And in the past, the church had all the sacraments and the graveyards, and death was not a commercial enterprise. Today, it is."

"Our Association has a memorandum of understanding" with several funeral directors — including the two in Princeton — listing prices for minimum services, and defining those services. You don't have to decide to spend thousands when you're in a state of total shock."

A non-profit organization of volunteers, the Princeton

Memorial Association offers its members — $15 for a life membership — the information and encouragement they need to plan for death, with arrangements appropriate to what they believe in and how much money they have to spend. Philosophically, as Mr. Putnam says, the group wants to stimulate thoughtful examination and frank discussion of a reality that is too often evaded.

On a practical basis, the Association provides its membership with information about giving organs after death, or donating the whole body to medical research. Members also receive information, including costs, about such options as cremation, burial and embalming and what New Jersey law requires.

As founders and pillars of the Association, Peter and Durlinda Putnam often receive calls from people who need help in a time of family crisis and grief. Faced with a dying relative, they call to inquire about funeral directors, about costs, about the need for a minister or priest.

Basically, however, the Association urges families to prepare ahead. Through the Association, for example, you may obtain a so-called "Living Will" in which you declare, before witnesses, that you do not want certain kinds of artificial life supports, and that medication be administered to you for pain relief even though it might shorten what life remains.

As a member, you will receive an "Expression of Personal Wishes" form. On it, you state what kind of funeral or memorial service you want, how you want your body treated after death, how you feel about flowers or what organizations you would like to benefit, through contributions in your name.

"We think families should discuss this form before anyone fills it out," Mrs. Putnam says. "Perhaps you will come to feel that you would prefer to donate your kidneys or your eyes, but not the whole body to medical research. That is sometimes hard for survivors. Talk with each other about the kind of service you want, while you're all alive and calm and not in a state of crisis."

After you've filled out the form, you're asked to file it with the Memorial Association. Don't put it with your will or in a safe-deposit box because often those cannot be opened until a considerable time after death.

Make sure your family knows where the form is, and let your doctor and your spouse know what's in it, and where it is. Or, of course, whatever next of kin you have.

Incidentally, the Princeton Memorial Association has reciprocal arrangements with 175 similar societies throughout the United States.

Current members of the board of trustees, besides Mr. Putnam, are: Dr. Benjamin Wright, vice-president; Dr. Richard Middleton, treasurer; Mrs. Putnam, recording secretary; Sallie Griffin, assistant secretary and Thomas Calceano, Fanny Floyd, Fran Friederman, Elise Goldman, Patience Hite, the Rev. Louise Kingston, Patricia McPherson, Mary Olivier and Dr. James Starrels.

Additional information may be obtained by writing Princeton Memorial Association, P.O. Box 1154, Princeton, N.J. 08540.

Weather Washes Out Most Weekend Sports Action; Now That It's Nice, Most Teams Will Play on Road

Last week you could blame the weatherman. This week the schedule maker will deny fans of Princeton University sports the chance to see their teams compete. With the exception of the baseball squad, which has a dozen Clarke Field games logjammed into its schedule, the Tiger teams will be playing more on the road than at home in the coming weeks.

The lacrosse team stands the best chance to return to a rousing homecoming. First-year coach Jerry Schmidt's troops, who trounced Yale, 20-12, this past weekend and who are scheduled to face Penn Wednesday at 3 on Finney Field, are playing as if they are serious contenders for the Ivy League championship. If that is the case (and it would be the first Ivy lacrosse title for the Tigers in 15 years), the Princeton Cornell match scheduled here on Saturday, May 1, will undoubtedly be the showdown for the crown.

The Big Red, favorites to win the title this year, already have jumped to a 3-0 mark in Ivy competition, beating Harvard, Dartmouth, and Penn — in overtime last Saturday. Princeton is 1-0, and travels to Brown, Harvard, and Rutgers before hosting Cornell.

So impressive was the lacrosse team's outing against Yale that spectators walked away doing a variation of the Miller Lite television commercials. "Excellent plays," said some observers of the Princeton attack. "Great free flowing offense," said others.

Which was it? Coach Schmidt, who won three NCAA small-college championships in 12 years at Hobart College, told reporters afterward that the new Princeton style "is not to be regimented: pass the ball around quickly and shoot when there is an opening."

But the Tigers were not shooting blindly. With the attackmen screening the Yale goalie at every opportunity, Princeton's midfielders scored 15 of the Tigers' 20 goals.

Six For Wilson. The mid-fielder who found himself in position most often was senior captain Rip Wilson, who scored six times — one less than he scored all last year. "For a midfielder to score six times," said Schmidt, is "amazing."

Yale succeeded in keeping Princeton's leading scorer, Gerry Ronan, away from its goal. Bob Ronan managed to contribute five assists. Steve Delligatti scores three times and Bob Flippin and Mike Wiecekorek had two apiece. Princeton also beat the Bulldogs to the loose balls, 30-12.

The game was not even as close as the score would indicate. First string goalie Peter Cordrey left the game after the first half, with Princeton leading 12-5. Tiger Joyce replaced him in the second half, and a slew of other substitutes also saw action. By game's end all 40 players on the squad had seen some action.

The men's lacrosse team was not the only big winner this weekend. The women's team totally dominated Dartmouth, 20-5, in a game in which captain Wiz Lippincott scored six goals to break the career scoring record set by Emily Goodfellow in 1976.

Coach Gary Kilpatrick's lightweight crew swept five races against the Midshipmen at Annapolis. The varsity lightweights, who will compete against Cornell and Rutgers on Carnegie Lake this Saturday, won their race against Navy by a margin of 2.7 seconds.

Heavyweights Lag. Other teams fared less well over the weekend. The heavyweight crew was clobbered by Navy, losing by three boat lengths. The Orange and Black finished the 2,000-meter course in 6:08.1, 12.1 seconds behind the Navy (and almost three seconds slower than the Princeton lightweights rowed in their race).

The heavyweight crews row this Saturday in New York against Columbia and Penn and will not compete again on Carnegie until May 5, against Rutgers.

The Tiger tennis team, which will play Navy this Saturday on University Courts, might now wish that it Sports Fans!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

STURHAHN, DICKENSON & BERNARD

Did you know that many big league baseball teams once had entirely different nicknames than they do today? ... For instance, the Dodgers were once the Robins ... The Cubs were once the Colts ... The Cardinals were the Perfectos ... The Pirates were the Alleghenies ... The Yankees were the Highlanders ... The Red Sox were the Pilgrims ... The Astros were the Colt 45s ... And the Indians were the Spiders.

Unbelievably, one of the greatest bowlers in history — Earl Anthony — NEVER bowled in his life till he was 21 years old! ... Anthony was working in Tacoma, Wash., when a fellow employee invited him to join their bowling league after work ...

Anthony started bowling just once-a-week but incredibly developed into a world-class bowler almost overnight ... He joined the pro tour and became the first bowler ever to win over $1-million in prize money.

I bet you didn't know that we are looking for new business — Auto, Homeowners, Major Medical and Life Insurance.

What are the most errors ever made in a big league baseball game? ... The Tigers and White Sox played a game in 1903 in which together they committed 18 errors in ONE game! ... That's a record that's never been topped in this century in the majors.

PDS Graduate Jenny Chandler Gets High Marks in Dartmouth Lacrosse

Jenny Chandler, a 1978 graduate of Princeton Day School, returned to Princeton last weekend as a member of the Dartmouth women's lacrosse team, which played Princeton Saturday.

Actually, because of the poor field conditions, the closest the Dartmouth team came to Princeton was 40 to 50 miles away. The game was shifted to Philadelphia, where it could be played on Temple University's astro-turf. Princeton won the contest 20-5.

Chandler, a senior and captain of the 1982 Dartmouth women's squad plays cover point which first-year Big Green Coach Josie Harper calls, "The pivot of the defense." Harper added, "Jenny has been very steady all season and is playing very smart lacrosse. Her tremendous sense of anticipation makes up for her lack of speed, and she has been an excellent captain both on and off the field. I consider Dartmouth fortunate to get her."

Chandler earned three varsity letters in both field hockey and lacrosse at Princeton Day School and was captain in the latter sport. She comes from a Dartmouth family — her grandfather Jim was a member of the Class of 1927, while her father Jay was a member of the Class of 1954.

The daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J.J. Chandler of 292 Edgerstone Road, she has been accepted to law school.

did not have the indoor facilities at Jadwin Gym. The Tigers were knocked off by Yale on Friday, April 2, playing indoors on what otherwise would have been a lost day. The 5-4 victory was Yale's first against Princeton in 15 years.

With the match tied at 3-3 after the singles, the Ells took two of three doubles. Steve Feinberg and Talbot Davis were the only Princeton pair to win in doubles, but that upset victory came after the overall match had been decided. Both Feinberg and Davis also won in singles, as did freshman Chris Robertson.

Track Itained Out. The Tigers rebounded on Saturday to defeat Brown, 7-2, and even their Ivy record at 1-1 (4-6 overall). The freshman, Robertson, played well again, taking a 7-6, 3-6, 6-2 match against Brown's captain to give Princeton a 4-2 lead going into the doubles.

The track team's meet against Army Saturday was cancelled, and several Princetonians competed instead at Lincoln University in Pennsylvania. Mark Riskin hurled the discus 182 feet to take first place, and the 880 relay team of Paul Arntn, Tim Pfitzer, Peter Arduino, and Ken Bruce set a school record of 1:27 in winning that event. The team will travel to Yale for a dual meet this Saturday.

TIGERS SPLIT TWINBILL.
With Brown, Tiny patches of snow still remain scattered about, but spring finally took hold long enough to enable the Princeton baseball team to play its first home games Monday.

The Tigers, who had not played since their doubleheader loss to Columbia a week ago, managed a split with Brown this time, winning the opener 5-3, and losing the nightcap, 6-3. The victory, was the first under head coach Tom O'Connell; Princeton is now 1-3 on the season.

Another make-up doubleheader was scheduled to be played against Penn Tuesday afternoon. On Wednesday, Villanova was scheduled to be at Clarke Field for a 3 p.m. contest, and Thursday, the Rutgers game in New Brunswick is planned.

After a shaky start, and some shaky play in the field, captain Bob Holly settled down to pitch the full seven innings, allowing Brown just seven hits. He struck out seven and walked two.

Holly gave up two runs in the first, when a potential double play ball went through the legs of shortstop Tom Magno, and another in the second when Brown's Hank Landers doubled home a runner. His defense and pitching both improved after that, and Brown was held scoreless the rest of the way.

The Tigers got one back in the first, aided by a throwing error by the Bruins shortstop that allowed leadoff batter Neil Cable to score. They tied it in the third with a pair of runs, but should have had more.

Two infield hits by Teeple and Steve Kordish and a perfect sacrifice bunt by Gerry Rodts that went for a hit filled the bases with none out. Craig Best's long drive in the gap in left center should have gone for a double, but Best was eventually tagged out trying to get back to first, when runners ahead of him got

PRINCETON NAUTILUS FITNESS CENTER

Welcome!

People from all walks of life are becoming fitness conscious. In fact, businesses of all types are increasingly aware of the importance of preventative exercise programs for their employees.

Billions of dollars are lost annually because of health disease, illness, sickness, absenteeism, fatigue and tardiness. Medical care costs have increased from $75 to more than $550 per person in the past 20 years. In the business world, regulated fitness exercise programs have become a major factor in sustaining the productivity and life span of anyone who has a relatively sedentary job. People who are overweight, smokers and tense — brought on by their nose-to-the-grindstone work hours — are dangerously in need of a fitness program.

We are for the first time in many years registering a drop in the incidence of cardiovascular disease. Contributing factors to this decline are an increase in regular physical activity, participation in a regulated exercise program, dietary awareness and a greater concern over work-related stress.

Your heart muscle is your most vital organ. It is extremely important that it be strong and healthy. Let's examine how exercise helps your heart to pump more efficiently.

The heart rate of the average male is 72 beats per minute. A normal heart ejects approximately 5,000 milliliters of blood to the body per minute, and transfers about 25 percent of the oxygen to the body cells. During regulated strenuous exercise (i.e. the Nautilus conditioning program), the heart rate increases as high as 180 to 200 beats per minute. The amount of blood pumped per minute also increases. The heart muscle contracts harder and forces out more blood with each beat. This is called stroke volume.

The increase heart rate and stroke volume together can increase the total blood pumped per minute (cardiac output) to 25,000 milliliters per minute or even higher! About 75 to 80 percent of available oxygen in the blood is transferred to the cells. With five times the cardiac output and three times the oxygen deliverance, the total oxygen available to the muscle is about 15 times the resting heart rate level.

Your heart muscle, responding positively from regulated strenuous exercise, enlarges in size. Contractions are more forceful. The stronger the contractions the greater the stroke volume, thereby causing the resting heart rate to lower without any loss in cardiac output! These factors combine to make your heart a more efficient pump. It has become increasingly apparent that a regulated preventive exercise program is just what the doctor has ordered ... and is ordering!

stacked up. O'Connell has said the team needs a lot of work on the fundamentals, but he obviously never thought he would have to teach his players how to score from second on a double.

After Dean Tanella struck out, Ray Tuohey brought home the second run with a single to second.

Two runs in the sixth brought the Orange and Black its first victory. After walks to Tuohey and Cable, and a sacrifice bunt by Magno, Paul Steinhauser brought home one with a sacrifice fly, and Tom Kates singled to drive in the other.

In the second game, Mike Judy also had problems in the early innings, giving up five of the visitors' six runs. This time, however, the Tiger bats were effectively silenced by pitcher Jim Strum, who allowed just two singles.

Ahead by 5-0, Strum ran into trouble in the fourth, issuing walks to Cable, Magno and Steinhauser. Teeple brought home one with a single, a force

Andrea Advances

Former Princeton women's tennis star Andrea Leand, who quit the University team to compete professionally, reached the quarterfinals in last week's Family Circle Cup in Hilton Head, South Carolina.

Leand, a freshman, defeated Kathy Horvath and Sabina Simmonds, before losing to Martina Navratilova, 6-1, 6-7, 6-1. Leand burst into the professional tennis picture last summer when she upset Andrea Jaeger in the U.S. Open championship.

out by Craig Peters drove in another, and the third came in when Best was hit by a pitch with the bases loaded.

But, the Tigers never mounted another threat; as Strum gave up only a single by Kordish the rest of the way. Chris Brennan pitched the final inning for Princeton, and gave up the sixth Brown run.

PDS TO PLAY PEDDIE

In Lacrosse. The Princeton Day lacrosse team, idle for the past week because of the bad weather, will meet Peddie at home this Wednesday at 3:30. The following day, New Canaan will visit PDS for a 3:30 game.

The Panthers are undefeated, but pretty much untested, after two contests. They whipped Academy of New Church and Bridgewater East in their first two games. A match against Lawrenceville, which would have told a lot more about the Blue and White was not played last Wednesday. A trip to Metuchen Saturday for a game with St. Joseph's was also postponed; neither game has been rescheduled.

The Princeton Day baseball team obviously has fared no better versus the weather. After an opening loss to West Windsor, the Panthers had games against Hun and Blair washed out. A pair of away games are set for this week, Lawrenceville on Wednesday and Friends Academy on Friday.

SAILING BEGINS

For Carnegie Club. The weather has ruined the plans for just about every spring sports group so far, and the Carnegie Sailing Club was no exception.

Club members attempted to get their season under way Sunday, April 4, but strong, gusty winds proved too much for the three intrepid sailors who showed up. Their spirits were not the only thing dampened, as one boat after another capsized in the chilly waters, forcing a week's postponement to the start of the season.

Conditions were much more favorable on Easter Sunday. Five sunfish sailors and four laser sailors, the latter members of the Lawrenceville School Sailing Club, had a good day under partly cloudy skies and challenging winds that veered from south to north-west.

The third week of sailing for the spring series of racing is scheduled for Sunday. Racing will begin on the north end of Carnegie at 1:30.

New members are invited to participate in the sunfish and laser fleets. If you are not experienced in racing, own a boat, and would like to learn the techniques of racing, arrangements are in progress for conducting training sessions.

For information on membership call the secretary, Chris Bethune (924-2655) or the Commodore, Dan Mazarella (924-2097).

PHS SPORTS KAYOED

By Tuesday's Blizzard. The only winner last week in high school sports was Tuesday's blizzard. It knocked out every scheduled Princeton High School contest, leaving athletic director Carol Parsons busily trying to restore shredded schedules.

The Little Tigers baseball team will be home for four consecutive games in five days, starting with Hightstown on Thursday at 3:45. Trenton Friday, Hun Saturday (1 p.m.) and Ewing Tuesday will follow.

The lacrosse team will entertain Hunterdon Central this Wednesday at 3:45 and will travel to Montclair Saturday, while the track team will participate in the annual Mercer County Relays at Lawrenceville School's Lavino Field House this Wednesday and will oppose Ewing away on Tuesday in a CVC dual meet.

Coach Joe Diefenbach's tennis team will host Hightstown Thursday and Ewing Monday and oppose Trenton High in Trenton on Tuesday.

The girls softball team will play the same two teams — Hightstown and Ewing — both at home on Thursday and Monday afternoons. Each has a 3:45 starting time.

The only team not affected by the weather, the girls lacrosse team, will resume against visiting Montclair on Thursday. The varsity game is set for 4, a jayvee game at 5.

PHS PARTICIPATES

In St. Joseph's Track Relays. Members from the Princeton High School boys and girls track teams competed Saturday in the St. Joseph's High School Relays in Montvale near the New York border.

In a relay in which three contestants each run a 400 IM hurdle and the total times are added, PHS finished second with a clocking of 2:58. Running for the Little Tigers in the event were Stephan and Lamont Fletcher and Wayne Davis.

In the two-mile relay, Ray Fisher, Jim Waltman, Steven Schwab and Jon Woolston combined for an 8:35 performance and another second-place ribbon.

The girls' mile relay team of Alyson Brandt, Kerri Phox, Gail Woolston and Gladys Rice finished third with a clocking of 4:11 — "good time for this time of the year," noted their coach Lamont Fletcher, who estimated that approximately 50 schools from New Jersey and New York participated in the Montvale event.

PIHS IS 79-52 WINNER
In Track. The Princeton High School boys track team won its second dual meet of the season and first Cañal Valley Conference test Monday, when it defeated Lawrence, 79-52.

It developed into a meet of runners versus field stars, as the Little Tigers swept every race except the 100 dash, while the Cardinals took firsts in every field event.

Lamont Fletcher was the top scorer for PHS, capturing both the 110 high hurdles and the 400TH in times of 15.4 and 51.4. He also ran the second leg of the mile relay between Jon Woolston, Ted Geherty and Stephan Fletcher, which PHS won by 17 seconds, 3:33 to 3:50.2.

Princeton's Wayne Davis was the 200 dash and was second in the 110 hurdles. Geherty claimed the 400 (52.0) while Ray Fisher took the 800 in 2:05.2. Mike and Steve Schwab tied far second with clocking of 2:05.4 in the 800 to give PIHS a sweep in the event.

Jim Waltman gave PIHS another first in the 1,600, posting a 4:38.5, and Chris Gillis was an ensy winner in the 3,200. His time was 10:11; teammate Bill Bushnell was second with 10:53.

In the 100 dash, Lawrence's Stan Darby nipped Stephan Fletcher 11.5 to 11.6 while Larry McKellar, the Little Tigers' outstanding 8-2, 200 pound running back and defensive end in football, was third in 11.7.

McKellar, who is going to continue his football career at the University of West Virginia, is also trying his hand in the field events to try to compensate for the loss of the team's top weight man P.J. Young, who left the team this year. This is the first year McKellar has competed in track.

The best he could do against Lawrence was a third in the shot put. Tom Murray of PHS was second in the shot with a toss of 47-4¾ and second in the discus (110-6).

The Cardinal's Nick Nicola was a double winner, taking the shot (50-9½) and the Javelin by 30 feet over teammate Ed Sweeney, 174-2 to 143-0. Sweeney won the discus and Darby, the 100 dash victor, was a double winner when he came back to win the long jump with a leap of 21-9. Princeton's Ken McKellar was second in the event with 19-8¾ and second in the high jump.

Dwayne Brewton of Lawrence was two inches better in the high jump (5-10) and the Cardinals also finished 1-2 in the pole vault.

FRIDAY IS DEADLINE
For Women's Tennis League. Those interested in participating in the women's team tennis league must register with the Recreation Department before Friday.

The league is designed for all levels of play, but players must register with a partner. Those who do not have a partner will be put on the substitute list. League members must be resident or non-resident tennis permit holders. Applications are available at the recreation office.

The season will begin April 26. Matches are played on Mondays from 10:30 a.m. to 12 noon. For additional information call the recreation department at 921-9480.

chronic water supply problems. The group helped rewrite the language of three fundamental pieces of water supply legislation and the Water Supply Master Plan to broaden the approach to water supply planning to include conservation and protection of headwaters and recharge areas. It was the first time, he says, that a state government agreed to look at the small streams and tributaries rather than immediately deciding on more dams and pipelines.

Educational Helps. To. Persuasion and education on environmental issues make up the behind-the-scenes component of the Watersheds Association efforts. The other components are public education, research and land management.

The Association has a 535-acre reserve on Titus Mill Road which it uses as a living laboratory. The pond, meadows, trails and woods are the location for year-round environmental education programs for children and adults as well as special summer programs for young people.

At each age level, the objective is to increase the participants' understanding of the interaction of people with the environment. High school students are helped to understand the ramifications of their science courses and to participate in collecting water quality data.

Although Mr. Gaffney speaks at greater length and with greater eloquence about the overarching environmental issues, he knows that the educational programs are key to the continuing success of the organization, particularly in a time of federal cut-backs.

"The Watersheds Association observes its anniversary at a critical time in the history of the environmental movement," Mr. Gaffney suggests. "In a sense we have come full cycle.

"The movement to provide cleaner air and water and better protection for critically important land features began as a grass roots movement, helped launch extensive government programs to build environmental safeguards, only to see responsibility for the care and husbandry of much of the nation's resources again returned to the local level."
